

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at http://books.google.com/

YA 01521

- nightzed by Google

J.B. Cosserly

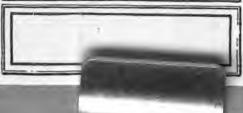

Google

J.B. Cosserly

Google

Hembied mercy tales

Shakespeare's Jest Book.

· A HUNDRED MERY TALYS,

FROM THE ONLY PERFECT

COPY KNOWN

EDITED,

WITH INTRODUCTION AND NOTES,

BY

DR. HERMAN OESTERLEY.

LONDON:
JOHN RUSSELL SMITH,
soho square:
1866.

932 i H933 1866

- 40 - VIMÜ ARABOHLIAÜ

Mrs. John B. Casserly

INTRODUCTION.

HE editor of the following pages, while engaged in the composition of a new catalogue of the prose works of siction preserved in the Royal Library of the University in Göttingen, met with a persect copy of the "C. Merry Tales," printed by John Rastell in 1526. He postponed, however, all researches regarding it until the time when the advancement of his work should require. In the mean time this copy came under the notice of Dr. Carl Goedeke, the eminent judge of early literature, who at once recognized it as the book alluded to by Shakespeare in "Much Ado About Nothing." This caused my learned colleague, Prof. F. W. Unger, to give a bibliographical account of the discovery in the "Serapeum" (No. 9, May 15th, 1864, p. 142). About this time, Mr. Hazlitt's reprint from the fragmentary but until this time only known copy reached us, and notice was given of it in the "Göttinger gelehrte Anzeigen" (23 St. June 8th, 1864, p. 917) by Prof. Unger, thus again drawing the attention of literary men to the perfect copy preserved in our library.

The original of Mr. Hazlitt's edition was discovered by the Rev. J. J. Conybeare in 1815,² and reprinted the same year in S. W. Singer's "Jest Book." It was printed without date, " Shakespeare Jest Books; reprints of the early and very rare Jest Books supposed to have been used by Shakespeare.

I. A Hundred Mery Talys. II. Mery Tales and Quicke Answeres. Edited, with Introduction and Notes, by W. Carew Hazlitt. London, Willis and Sotheran, 1864, 8°."

² Collier, "Shakespeare," Lond. 1842, vol. ii. p. 208, note 8, gives erroneously the year 1835 as the date of the discovery and reprint.

"Shakespeare Jest Book. Part 1. Tales and quicke Answeres very mery and pleasant to rede, with a Preface and a Glossary. Part 11. A C mery Talys, with a Preface and Glossary. Part 111. Supplement to the Tales and quicke Answeres, being Mery Tales, wittie Questions and quicke Answeres, very pleasant to be readde." Chiswick, 1814-16, 8vo. Three parts in 1 vol., 250 copies printed, with an "Address to the Reader," by the editor, S. W. Singer, Esq. Of this edition hardly a single copy has ever come to Germany. See "Biographical Memoir of Edmond Malone" [by James Boswell], Lond. 1814, privately but with the mark of John Rastell⁴ on the reverse of the last least, twenty-four leaves in solio, black letter.⁵ Many leaves of this copy, from having been used as pasteboard to another book, were mutilated, and though several copies had been employed in fashioning the pasteboard, and so a comparatively large fragment was saved, yet many deficiencies remained. Besides a quantity of smaller gaps throughout the whole book, in twenty-six⁶ of the tales several lines are wanting, and six⁷ are too much damaged to decypher.

The original of the present edition is perfect. It was printed by John Rastell in 1526, black letter, twenty-eight leaves in solio, though only printed; "Retrospective Review," N. S. No. 8, Aug. 1854, vol. ii. p. 313; "London Magazine," edited by Taylor and Hessey, 1823-24.

- ⁴ See, about this early English printer, James Ames, "Typographical Antiquities," augmented by W. Herbert, Lond. 1785-90, 4to. vol. i. p. 326.
- Lowndes, "The Bibliographer's Manual," part v. p. 1200, mentions the 18mo. fize. For further particulars, fee Mr. Hazlitt's edition, Introduction, p. iii. feq.
- Viz. Nos. 3, 4, 22, 24, 42, 46, 47, 49, 52, 53, 55, 59, 60, 63, 64, 67, 69, 74, 77, 81, 83, 87, 91, 94, 96, 100.
- Viz. Nos. 26, 35, 72, 78, 84, 95, corresponding to Nos. 28, 36, 74, 80, 86, 99 of this edition.

twenty-fix numbered, including title and table. It contains E iii by fignatures, the first sheet in fours, the remainder in fixes. The front of the first leaf is without fignature and bears in xylographic frame-work the title, "A.C. mery talys;" on the back of the leaf begins "the kalender" or the table of the tales, which is continued on the second leaf A ii. Then follow folios I to 26,1 containing the text of the tales. The stories are without headings or numbers, generally with a moral attached and a break in type between each. The first letter of each ftory is printed separately, most of them in a square for illumination. The text finishes upon the first page of the last leaf with the word "Finis;" on the reverse follows the Colophon and the mark of John Rastell in large framework, and under it: Cum preuilegio Regali.

According to an entry in the Library's Manual of the year 1768² this copy has been purchased at an auction of books in Lüneburg, December, ¹ Fol. 2 and 26 bear erroneously the numbers 26 and resp. 21.

² "Manuale," 1768. Angekommen d. 13 Jan. p. 6. Aus der Auction eines Vorraths von Büchern, welche am 7 Dec. 1767 u. f. zu Lüneburg in Petersens Hause an den Meistbietenden sollen verkaust werden, p. 9, 145, No. 2. "A C mery talys." Lond. 1526, (Acc. f. 5368.)

1767; but I have been unsuccessful in tracing its history further back.

The differences between this impression and the one edited by Singer and reprinted by Mr. Hazlitt are very considerable. Our edition has four tales which are not contained in the undated copy, viz. Nos. 2, 7, 91 and 98; for which at the end of the latter three new stories are added, Nos. 97, 99 and 100. No. 98 is wanting in the table as well as in the text of Mr. Hazlitt's edition, and as he does not give any reason of this striking deficiency, nor even mention it, I am unable to decide whether it arises from a negligence of the original compiler, from a lacuna in the only preserved copy, or from an error of the later editors; the less, as Mr. Singer's reprint is faid to be nearly an accurate facfimile of the original, and Mr. Hazlitt professes to have rigidly adhered even to the old orthography.

Again, in Mr. Hazlitt's edition the morals of Nos. 54, 79 and 96 are wanting, corresponding to Nos. 35, 81 and 100 of the present edition; and further is No. 43 of our original No. 33 of the undated copy.

For smaller variations I may first refer to the kalender or table. In the beginning the headings are entirely different, but afterwards, with the exception perhaps of Nos. 44 and 66 (Nos. 42 and 64 in Haz.), only very trifling alterations of fingle words occur.

The variations of the two editions in fingle phrases and expressions of the text are numerous, and they are, after careful collation, noted under the text, excepting those, however, which have arisen from the interpolations of the later editors.

Finally, the difference of orthography and punctuation might be mentioned, but for the capriciousness of the orthography in both editions, and for the thorough modernizing of the punctuation in Mr. Hazlitt's edition, the only one at my command.

The question, which of the two copies recovered up to the present inoment is the original and older edition (and there is very little hope of ever discovering a third copy), will be very difficult to prove to an absolute certainty. By the want of any authentic indication, the inquiry is thrown back on a mere circumstantial proof; but I think the reasons to be given hereafter will be strong enough to produce a firm conviction of the priority of our original.

The first argument in favour of the edition of 1526 is founded on the selection and disposition of the tales. When a reprint of a collection of a hundred tales like the one in question is being prepared, and the removing of four stories seems desirable, it is unlikely enough, that the three or four last pieces should be cast off; but it is much more unlikely that the number required to complete a hundred should be inserted in entirely chance places. This, however, would have been the case in the Nos. 2, 7, 91 and 98 of our edition, if it had been a revision of the undated copy. On the other hand, it is quite natural fimply to throw out the tales confidered as unferviceable (which, as before mentioned, would hardly be placed together, but be scattered throughout the work) and to subjoin the additions at the end. This has been the case, if the undated edition is the refult of a revision: Nos. 2, 7, 91 and 98 of the original edition have been suppressed, and in their stead Nos. 97 to 100 of the later impression are added. I must say, that this mode of revision, in a work where the disposition of the matter is entirely arbitrary, feems to me more natural than even putting the new stories in the place of the old ones. The substance of the tales in discussion can be of no moment for the question, for indeed, the one is about as infipid as the other, and moreover, the taste of our ancestors in regard to jests and popular tales was fo very different from ours, that it is next to impossible at present to decide which of them might be considered more palatable to the public at that time.

The transposition of a single tale to another place can, of course, be no conclusive argument either for one view or for the other, whereas the want of the morals in the undated copy is of consequence, if it really be found in the original and not be produced by a defect, which is not quite evident in Mr. Hazlitt's reprint. As our copy contains twenty-eight leaves and the undated one only twenty-four, therefore the arrangement of the type in each must have been quite different; the absence of these morals might have arisen from a desire of saving space, and thus surnish a new evidence for the priority of the dated edition.

The variations in the table favour my opinion in an equal manner. Wherever any effential differences occur in the headings, they are equal to as many emendations in the undated copy, and these improvements evidently bear witness to the later appearance of the revised edition; the more, as there is no trace of a third edition earlier than both, of which the undated copy might possibly be a revised impression, ours being only a later and unrevised reprint.

¹ No. 43 to No. 33 of the undated edition.

² See the headings of Nos. 1 to 6, 44 and 66.

This might, indeed, have been the case for the alterations of the text; but under the circumstances it is too improbable to be advanced as an objection, and I may fairly put it out of the question. Among the very large quantity of variations in the text, there are, of course, many entirely irrelevant in the decision of the question, as they cannot be confidered as improvements. The greater part, nevertheless, proves that the undated edition is the product of a revision. In the first place the misprints are important. The typographical errors of our edition, about fifty or fixty, have all been corrected in Mr. Hazlitt's original, in which, however, there are about twenty new misprints. The most remarkable of these is p. 35, l. 13 of Mr. Hazlitt's reprint, where evidently from the repetition of the words "tyed fast by the leggys" in three consecutive lines (at the top of fol. vi verso of our original) more than a line of our text has been omitted, the passage ending with the first repetition of those words being left out. As it would be impossible to enumerate all the passages which go to prove my proposition, I mention only some of the most striking instances. Fol. 1 verso, l. 39, the words "his neck," accidentally omitted in ours, are supplied in Mr. Hazlitt's edition; fol. 2 verso, l. 10, "for that that"—Hazl. "because:" fol. 10. l. 38, "by vyolence"—Hazl. "of the house;" fol. 11 verso, l. 16, "thy"—Hazl. "your;" fol. 14, l. 27, "vp through"—Hazl. "throughe it," &c; but especially fol. 21, l. 3 and 4, a very corrupt passage of our text has been corrected in Mr. Hazlitt's edition, p. 102, l. 8; fol. 23, l. 2, the words "sayde in sporte" are omitted, but have been inserted in the undated copy.

On the other hand, I feel obliged to mention that a few of the variations in the undated copy cannot well be considered as corrections from our text, but rather seem to indicate the reverse; this, however, is easily enough accounted for by the fact that alterations are not always improvements: indeed, in one instance the very corruption of the text proves its being a revised edition.

The orthography in both editions is too varied and unfettled to be of any moment for our question, although the frequent use of written numbers in the undated copy instead of the simple cypher, and perhaps the employing of the word "pence" for our abbreviation d. seem to strengthen my argument. On the whole, all the orthography proves is that only a few years elapsed between the appearance of the two editions.

¹ F. e. fol. 12, l. 34; fol. 12 verso, l. 27; fol. 16 verso, l. 23; fol. 20, l. 21, &c.

² Fol. 20 verso, l. 9; see the notes.

These are the arguments I have to present; although each taken singly may not be considered conclusive, the whole will form as unexceptionable a proof of the priority of our edition as can be expected, and this proof is the more cogent, as there is nothing worth mentioning to be offered in favour of the other edition.

The notes added to the present edition do not in any way pretend to contain all that might be collated in regard to the fources and imitations of the "C Mery Talys." It has certainly been my endeavour to make this collection of parallels as entire as possible, but, of course, it was only the material at my command which I could call into requisition; and although this material was uncommonly copious, I have no doubt in a complete collection, especially of English Jest Books, much more might have been gathered. However, many of the Merry Tales bear too unmistakeably the stamp of originality to leave any hope of tracing their origin farther, and a large number we may fafely suppose have never been transferred to the collections of a later period. This forms the effential distinction between the present and most of the other English Jest Books, ours being the only one (within my knowledge, at least) containing tales upon the origin or diffemination of which authentic information cannot be obtained.

It only remains for me to express my sincerest thanks to my learned friend, Dr. Carl Goedeke, for the highly valuable assistance he has furnished me in the accomplishment of my work.

CONTENTS.

	Page
1. Of the mylner that fayd he harde neuer but of ii commaundemens and .ii. dowtys	1
11. Of the cytesen that callyd the prest syr John & he callyd him master raf	2
111. Of the wyfe that mayd hyr husbande to go syt in the herber in the nyght while her prentys lay with her in her bed	3
IV. Of hym that playd the deuyll and came thorow the waren & mayd theym that stale the connys to ronne away	7
v. Of the syk man that bequethyd hys thyrd son a lytyll ground with the galows	11
vi. Of the gentylman that lost his ryng in the gentylwomans bed, & a nother gentylman found it after in the same bed	13
vii Of the husband man that asked for master pyspot
the phyfyfyon	14
VIII. Of the scoler that bare his shoys to cloutyng .	17
1x. Of hym that fayd that a womans tong was lightist met of degestion	18
x. Of the woman that followyd her fourth huf-
bandys herce & wept	19

Dane
Page	xI. Of the woman that fayd her wooer came too
20	late
22	xII Of the mylner with the golden thombe
	XIII. Of the horsman of yrelond that prayd Oconer
22	to hang vp the frere
25	xiv. Of the prest that sayd nother corpus meus nor corpum meum
	xv. Of the .ii. frerys wherof the one louyd not the 26	ele hed nor the other the tayle
	xvi. Of the welchman that shroue hym for brekyng
27	his fast on the fryday
•	XVII. Of the merchaunt of london that put nobles in 30	his mouth in his deth bed
•	XVIII. Of the mylner that stale the nuttys & of the
31	tayler that stale a shepe
•	xix. Of the .iiii. elementys where they shulde sone
37	be found
•	xx. Of the woman that powryd the potage in the 39	Juggys male
-,	xx1. Of the weddyd men that cam to heuyn to
41	clayme theyr herytage
•	XXII. Of the merchaunte that charged hys sonne to
42	fynde one to fynge for hys fowle
•	XXIII. Of the mayd washyng clothys and answered
44	the frere
45	xxiv. Of the .iii. wyse men of gotam
47	xxv. Of the gray frere that answeryd his penytent .
• •	xxvi. Of the gentylman that bare the sege borde on
47	his nek
	XXVII. Of the marchauntys wyfe that seyd she wolde
51	take a nap at sermon
J -	xxvIII. Of the woman that feyd & she lyffyd a nother yere she wolde haue a kokoldis hat of how arms

	CONTENTS.	xvii
		Page
xxix.	Of the gentylman that wyshyd his toth in the gentylwomans tayle	53
xxx.	Of the welchman that confessyd hym how he	:
	had slayn a frere	54
XXXI.	Of the welchman that cowde not get but a lytyll male	55
XXXII.	Of the gentyll woman that sayd to a gentylman ye haue a berde a boue & none benethe	57
XXXIII.	Of the frere that fayd our lord fed .v. M.
	peple with .ij. fyshys	58
XXXIV.	Of the frankelyne that wold have had the	• frere gon	59
xxxv.	Of the good man that fayd to his wyfe he	:
	had yll fare	60
XXXVI.	Of the frere that bad hys chylde make a laten	61
XXXVII.	Of the gentylman that askyd the frere for	•
	his beuer	62
	Of the .iii. men that chase the woman	,
XXXIX.	Of the gentylman that taught his cooke the medefyne for the tothake
XL.	Of the gentylman that promyfyd the scoler	• of Oxford a farcenet typet	67
xLI.	Of master skelton that brought the byshop of
	Norwich .ii. fesantys	70
XLII.	Of the yeman of gard that fayd he wold
	bete the carter	73
XLIII.	Of the pryst that sayd our lady was not so curyous a woman
	Of the fole that wold go to the deuyll
XLV.	Of the plowmannys sonne that sayd he saw one make a Gose to kreke sweetly	77

		Page
	Of the maydys answere that was with chylde	78
xLVII.	Of the servant that rymyd with his master .	79
XLVIII.	Of the welchman that delyueryd the letter to the ape	81
XLIX.	Of hym that fold ryght nought	83
L.	Of the frere that told the iii. chylders fortunys	86
LI.	Of the boy that bare the frere hys mafters
	money	88
LII.	Of Phylyp spencer the bochers man	89
	Of the courtear and the carter	91
LIV.	Of the yonge man that prayd his felow to tech hym his pater noster	91
LV.	Of the frere that prechyd in ryme expownyng
	the aue maria	93
LVI.	Of the curat that prechyd the artycles of the Crede	96
LVII.	Of the frere that prechyd the .x. comaundementys	100
LVIII.	Of the wyfe that bad her husband ete the candell furst	103
LIX.	Of the man of lawys fonnys answer	104
LX.	Of the frere in the pulpit that bad the woman
	leue her babelyng	104
LXI.	Of the welchman that cast the skot in to the fee	106
LXII.	Of the man that had the dome wyfe	107
LXIII.	Of the proctor of arches that had the lytell
	wyfe	109
LXIV.	Of the .ii. nonnys that were shryuyn of one
	prest	110
LXV.	Of the esquyer that sholde have bene made knycht

CONTENTS.	xix
	Page
LXVI. Of the man that wold haue the pot stand there as he wold	114
LXVII. Of the penytent that sayd the shepe of god
haue mercy vpon me
LXVIII. ¶ Of the husband that sayd he was John	ı daw LXIX. ¶ Of the skoler of oxford that prouyd by fouphestry .ii. chekyns .iii
LXX. ¶ Of the frere that stale the podyng LXXI. Of the frankelyns son that cam to take orders
LXXII. Of the husbandman that lodgyd the frere in hys owne bed	•
LXXIII. Of the prest that wold say .ii. gospels for a	• grote LXXIV. Of the courtear that dyd cast the frere ouer
the bote	126
LXXV. Of the frere that prechyd what menny	3
fowlys were	127
LXXVI. Of the husband that cryed ble vnder the	: :
bed LXXVII. Of the shomaker that askyd the colyer what tydyngys in hell	130
LXXVIII. Of seynt Peter that cryed cause bobe LXXIX. Of hym that aduenturyd body & sowle for hys prynce
LXXX. Of the parson that stall the mylners elys LXXXI. Of the welchman that saw one .xl. shyl better than god
LXXXII. Of the frere that fayd dyrige for the hoggy fowle
LXXXIII. Of the parson that sayd masse of requiem	1
for Crustus sowle	106

	Pag
LXXXIV. Of the herdman that fayd ryde apace ye shall haue rayn	13
LXXXV. Of hym that sayd I shall have nere a peny	139
LXXXVI. Of the husband that sayd his wyfe and he agreed well	140
LXXXVII. Of the preeft that fayd comede episcope.	141
exxviii. Of the woman that stale the pot	142
LXXXIX. Of master whyttyntons dreme	143
xc. Of the prest that kyllyd hys horse callyd modicum	144
xci. Of the maltman of Colbroke	145
xcii. Of the welchman that stale the englysh-mans cok	1 50
xciii. Of hym that brought a botell to a prest.	1 50
xciv. Of the endytement of Jhesu of Nazareth.	151
xcv. Of hym that prechyd agaynst theym that rode on the fonday	I 52
xcvi. Of the one brother that founde a purs .	153
xCVII. Of the answere of the masters to the mayd	155
xcvIII. Of a certayn aldermans dedys of london.	155
xcix. Of the northern man that was all hart .	1 58
c. Of the human of old John	0

A HUNDRED MERY TALYS.

1. Of the mylner that fayd he harde neuer but of ii commaudemens and .ii. dowtys.

CERTAYN Curat in the contrey there was that preched in the pulpit of the ten commandementys. Seyng that there were ten comandemetes that euery man ought to kepe/ & he that brake any of the comytted greuous fyn/1 how be it he fayd that fomtyme it was dedly fyn & fomtyme venyall/ But when it was dedly fyn & when venyall/ there were many douts therin. And a mylner a yong ma a mad felow that cam feldom to church/2 & had ben at very fewe fermons or none in all his lyfe answerd hym tha fhortly this wyse. I meruel master parson that ye say ther be so many comandemetis & so many doutys. For I neuer hard tell but of ii.

¹ greuous syn] Hazl. syn. 2 church] Orig. reads chnrch.

comandemets that is to say comande me to you and comande me fro you. Nor I neuer herd tell of mo! doutis but twayn that ys to say dout? the candell and dout the fyre. At which answere all the people sell a laughynge.

¶ By this tale a man may well preyue that they that be brought vp without lernyng or good maner shall neuer be but rude and bestely all though they have good naturall wyttys.

11. Of the cytesen that callyd the prest syr John & he called hi master ras.

Wanting in Hazlitt's edition.

N a tyme there was a Joly Citefyn walkyng in the cotrey for sport which met with a folysh prest/& in dirysyo in comunycacio cald hym syr John. this prest vnderstonding his mockyng calde him master rafe/ why quod the cytesyn doste thou call me master rafe/ mary quod the prest why callyst me syr John. Then quod the cytesen I call the syr John becawse euery folysh preste most comonly is calde sir John/ Mary quod the prest & I call the master rafe because eueryproud ^{&#}x27;mo] Hazl. more. 2 dout] i.e. fear.

² wp without lernyng] Orig. reads vpwith out leryng.

Cocold most comenly is callyd master Rase. At the which answer all that were by laught a pace because dyuers there supposed the same cytesen to be a cokcold in dede.

¶ By thys tale ye may se that he that delyteth to deryde & laughe other to skorne is somtyme hym selse more derydyd.

III. Of the wyfe that mayd hyr husbande to go syt in the herber in the nyght whyle her prentys lay with her in her bed.

The fources as well as the imitations of this story are very numerous. It feems to be modelled after Boccaccio, "Il Decamerone," giorn. vii. nov. 7, or perhaps after the "Cent Nouvelles Nouvelles," nouv. 88. But its real origin is a French fabliau, either "La bourgeoise d'Orléans," in Legrand d'Aussy, "Fabliaux ou Contes du XII. et du XIII. siècle," \ Paris, 1779, tom. iii. p. 411 (also in Barbazan-Méon, "Fabliaux et Contes," Paris, 1808, p. 161); or "Raymond Vidal," in Raynouard, "Choix des Poésies originales des Troubadours," Paris, 1816-1819, tom. iii. p. 398. Likewise it is contained in "Poggii facetiæ," s. l. & a. fol: "de muliere quæ virum defraudavit," fol. v. verso; in Mone's "Anzeiger für Kunde des deutschen Mittelalters," iv. 453; "Der Herr und der Schreiber;" in Von der Hagen, "Gesammtabenteuer," No. 27; "Frauenbestaendigkeit," Bd. ii. Stuttgart & Tübingen, 1850; and in "Grimm," Deutsche Sagen, Bd. ii. Berlin, 1818, p. 186; "Kaiser Heinrich versucht die Kaiserin."

⁴ delyteth] Orig. reads delyteh.

The following are more or less exact imitations of thesedifferent sources: Henr. Bebelii "Facetiæ, additamenta Hermotimi," in Nicod. Frischlini "Facet. Selectiores," Amstelod. 1660, p. 313; Joh. Gastius, "Convivalium sermonum," Basil, 1549, tom. i. p. 198; Ser Giovanni Fiorentino, "Il Pecorone," giorn. iii. nov. 2; Celio Malespini, "Ducento novelle," nov. 61; Ludov. Domenichi, "Facetie," p. 204; Matteo Bandello, "Novelle," tom. ii. nov. 25; "Conti da ridere," tom. i.p. 139" d'un uomo che fu cornuto, battute e contento;" Timoneda, "Alivio de Caminantes," p. i. No. 69, reprinted in "Bibl. de Aut. Españ." vol. iii. p. 175; "Romanzero general," Madrid, 1614, p. ix. fol. 344; H. Estienne (Henr. Stephanus) "Apologie pour Hérodote, augm. de remarques par Le Duchat," La Haye, 1735, tom. i. chap. 15, p. 279; Dancourt, "Oeuvres," Paris, 1729; tom. ii. No. 1, "Le tuteur;" "Roger Bontems en belle humeur," Cologne, 1731, tom. i. p. 55: "D'un homme qui fut cocu, battu et content;" "Contes à rire, ou Récréations Françaises," ed. 1787, tom. ii. p. 130; Lafontaine, Contes: "Le Cocu battu et content," liv. i. c. 3; B. Waldis, "Esopus," iv. 81; Joh. Pet. de Memel, "Lustige Gesellschaft" (impersect copy of the Library in Göttingen), No. 2, f. 26; Philander, "Der Kurzweilige Zeitverkürzer," s. l. 1702, No. 481, p. 323; A. F. E. Langbein, Schwänke: "Der Kammerdiener," ed. 1765, Bd. i. p. 29; "A Sackful of Newes," London, 1673, reprinted in Mr. Hazlitt's "Shakespeare Jest-Books," and feries, Lond. 1864, p. 169.

WYFE ther was which had apointed her pretys to com to her bed in the night which feruat had long woyd her to haue his plefure which acordige to the apoitmet cã to her bed fyde î the night her husbad liyng by her & when she pceyuyd hym ther she caught hì by the had & hyld hym fast & incotinet wakened her husbod & sayd/ Sir it is so ye haue a fals & an vntru seruat to you which is william your prentys & has loge woyd me to haue his plefur/ & becawfe I coud nat auoyde his importunate request I have appoited hym this night to met me in the garde î the herber & yf ye wyll aray your felf in myn aray & go theder ye shall fe the pfe therof & then ye may rebuke hym as ye thike best by your dyscrecyon/ this husbad thus aduertised by his wyfe/ put vpo hym his wyues raymet1 & went to the herber and when he was gone thyder the prentys ca in to bed to his mastres wher for a seaso they wer both contet and pleafyd ech other by the space of an hour or .ij. but when she thought tyme couenyet she fayd to the prentyse Now go thy way in to the herber & mete hym & take a good waster² in thy hãd & say thou dydys it but to pue whether I woldbe a good woma or no & reward hym as thou thynkyst best. This prentys doig after his mastres cocell wet to3 the herber wher he founde his master i his mastres appel & sayd A thou harlot art thou come hether/ now I se well yf I wold be fals to my mafter thou woldest be a strög hore but I had leuer thou wer hagyd tha I wold do him so traterous a dede therfore I shall gyve the some punishment as thou lyke an hore hast deserved/ & therwith lapt hi well about the sholds & bak and gaue hym a dose or .ii. good strypys the master felyng hym selfe sowhat to fmart sayd pese wyllia myne own true good feruat for godys fake hold thy hadys for I a thi master & not thi mastres/ na hore, quod he thou lyest thou art but an harlot & I dyd but to pue the/ & fmote hi agayn. Alas man quod the master I beseche the nomore for I am not she for I am thy master fele for I have a berd/ and therwith he sparyd his had & felt hys berd. Alas master1 quod the prentys I crye you mercy & then the mayster went vnto hys wyfe & she askyd hym how he had sped & he asswerd I wis2 wyfe I haue bene shrewdly betyn how be it I have cause to be glad for I thanke god I have as trew a wyfe & as trew a feruant as any man hath in englond.

^{&#}x27; rayment] Orig. reads raymte.

² waster] i. e. cudgel.

³ went to Hazl. went in to.

¶ By this tale ye may fe that it is not wysdome for a man to be rulyd alway after hys wyues councell.

¹ Alas master] Hazl. good mayster.

² I wis] i. e. I know.

IV. Of hym that playd the deuyll and came thorow the waren & mayd theym that stale the connys to ronne away.

T fortunyd that in a market towne in the counte of Suffolk there was a stage play i the which playe on callyd John adroyns wich dwelyd i a nother vyllage ij. myle fro thes playd the deuyll. And whe the play was done this John adroyns i the euenyng departyd fro the fayd market towne to go home to his owne house & be cause³ he had there no chage of clothige he went forth i his deuylls apell whiche î the way comyng homward ca thorow a waren of conys belögyng to a getylma of the vyllage wher he hym selfe dwelt. at which tyme it fortunyd a prest a vycar of a church therby with ij. or iij. other unthryfty felowes had brought with the a hors a hey & a feret to thetet ther to get conis & whe the feret was in the yerth & the hey 4 fet ouer the path way wheris thys John adroyns shold com. this prest & this other felowes faw hym com î the deuyls raymet cofyderig that they were i the deuyls seruyse & stelig of cones & supposynge it had ben the deuyll in dede for ^{* &}amp; be cause | Hazl. because. ! a hey] i. e. a net.

⁵ wherin] Hazl. where. 6 & this] Hazl. and his.

fere ran away. this John adroyns î the deuyls raymet & be cause it was sowhat dark saw not the hey but wet forth î hast & stoblid therat & fell down & wyth the fall he had almost broke his nek.2

But whe he was a lytyll reuyuyd he lokyd vp & spyed it was a hay to chach connvs & lokyd further/ & faw that they ran away for fere of hym/ & faw a horse tyed to a bush laden with connys whych they had taken/ & he toke the horse & the have & lepe3 vpo the horse & rode to the gentylmannys place that was lorde of the waren/ to the entente to haue thanke for takynge suche a pray. And when he cam/knokyd at the gatys. To whome anone one of gentylmannys feruauntys askyd who was there/ and sodeynly openyd the gate/ and affone as he perceyuyd hym in the deuyls raymente was fodenly abashyd/ and fparryd the dore agayn/ & went in to his mayster/ and fayd & fware to hys mayster that the deuyll was at the gate/ and wolde come in. The gentylman heryng hym fay fo callyd another of hys seruauntys & bad hym go to the gate to knowe who was there. This seconde servaiit [&]amp; wyth Hazl. that with.

² The words his nek in orig. accidentally are omitted.

³ lepe Hazl. lept.

cam to the gate durst not open it/ but askyd with lowd voyce who was there. thys John Adroyns in the deuyls apperell answerd with a hye voyce and fayd/ Tell thy master I must nedys speke with hym or I go. This second servaut heryng that answer supposynge also it had bene the deuyll/ went in agayn to his master and sayd thus/ mayster yt is the deuyll in dede that ys at the gate/ and fayth he must nedys speke with you or he go hens. The gentylma then began a lyttvll to bashe and callyd the steward of hys howse/ whyche was the wyfyst servaunt that he had and bad hym to go to the gate and to brynge hym fure worde who was there. This steward be cause he thaught he wold se surely who was there came to the gate and lokyd thorow the chinys of the gate in dyuers placys/ and faw well that yt was the deuyll and fat vpon an horse and hangynge aboute the faddell on euery fyde fawe the cony heddys hengynge down/ than he came to his mayster aferde in greate haste and sayd/ By goddys body yt is the deuyll in dede that is at the gate fyttyng vpon an horse laden all wyth towllys/ and by lykelyhede/6 he is com for your

⁴ Adroyns] Orig. reads Androyns.

or i. e. ere, before.

by lykelyhede] Hazl. be lykelyhode.

foule¹ purposely/ and lakkyth but your soule/ & yf he had your sowle I wene² he shold be gone. This gentylman thã meruelously abashyd callyd vp³ his chapleyn/ and made the holy candell to be lyght/ and gat holy water and wente to the gate wyth as many of hys seruauntys as durste go with hym/ where the chaplayn with holy wordys of coniuracyon sayde/ In the name of the fader/ sonne and holy goost/ I coniure the and charg the in the holy name of god to tell me why and wherfore thowe commyste hyther.

This John Androynys in the deuyllys apparell heryng theym begynne to coiure after suche maner sayd/ Nay nay be not a ferd of me for I am a good dyuell I am John Adroyns your neghboour dwellyng in thys towne and he that played the dyuell/ to day in the play/ I haue braught my mayster a dosen or ii. of hys owne connyes that were stolyn in hys waren and theyr horse & theyr hay/ and made theym for fere to ronne away/ and when they herde hym thus speke by hys voyce they knew hym well ynoughe and openyd the gate

¹ foule in orig. sonle.

² I wene] I suppose.

² callyd wp] Hazl. called.

⁴ dwellyng in thys towne] Hazl. in this towne.

⁵ ii.] Hazl. two.

and when they Hazl. whanne they.

⁷ they knew hym well ynoughe] Hazl. knewe him well.

and let hym come in/ And so all the forsayd fere and dred8 was tornyd to myrth and dysporte.

¶ By this tale ye may se that me fear many tymes more than they nede which hath causyd me to beleue that spyryttys & deuyls haue bene sene in dyuers placys when it hath bene nothynge so.

v. Of the syk man that bequethyd hys thyrd son a lytyll ground with the galows.

HER was a riche man which lay fore feke in his bed lyke to dy⁹ wherfore his eldyst fon cam to hym & besechyd hym to gyue hym his blyffyng to whom the fader fayd fon thou shalt haue goddys bleffyng & myne and for that that 10 thou hast ben euer good of codycyons I gyue & bequeth the all my land/ to whom he answered & sayd nay fad I trust you shal lyue & occupy them your selfe full well by goddys grace. Sone after came his ij. sone 11 to hym lyke wyse & desyred his bleffyng/ to whom the sad sayd because 12 thou hast be 13 euer kynde

⁶ fere and dred] Hazl. feare.

⁹ lyke to dy] Hazl. to (deth).

¹⁰ for that that] Hazl. because.

¹¹ his ij. sone] Hazl. another sonne.

¹² because] Hazl. my sonne. 13 be] Hazl. ben.

& gentyll1 & I geue the goddys blessynge & myn and also I bequeth the all my mouable goodys/ to whom he answerd and sayd/ nay fader I trust ye shall lyve & do well & spend and vse your goodys your felfe by goddys grace. Anon after the iij. sone cam to hym & desyred his blessyng to whom the fader answerd & fayd by cause thou hast bene euyll & stoborne of condycyons & wolde neuer be ruled after my coufell I haue nother land nor goodys onbequethyd but onely a lytell vacant ground wher a galows standyth which now I geue and bequeth to the/ and goddys curse withall/ to whom the sonne anfwerd as hys bretherne dyd & fayd nay fader I trust ye shall lyue and be in good helth and haue yt and occupy it your felfe by goddys grace. But after that the fader dyed & this thyrd fon cõtynuyd styll hys vnthryfty condycyons wherefore yt was hys fortune afterwarde for hys deferuyng to be hangyd on the same galows.

¶. By this tale men may wel perceyue that yong people that wyll not be rulyd by theyr frendys councell in youth in tymys come to a shamfull ende.

¹ gentyll &] Hazl. gentyll.
2 and also] Hazl. and.

VI. Of the gentylman that lost his ryng in the gentylwomans bed, & a nother gentylman found it after in the same bed.

This tale is taken from the "Cent Nouvelles Nouvelles," nouv. 62. It is imitated by Celio Malespini in "Ducento novelle," nov. 2, and by Decker and Webster in "Northward Hoe," 160 f, act. 1, sc. i. See Webster's Works, ed. by A. Dyce. London, 1830, vol. iii. p. 139.

WO gëtylmen of accoyntauce wer appoyntyd to ly with a gëtyll³ woma in one nyght the one not knowige of the other at dyuers tymis. This fyrst at 5 his houre appoyntyd cã/ & in the bed ther he fortunid to lese a ryng/ the .ij.6 gentylmã when he was gone cam/ & fortunyd to fynd the same rynge/ & when he had sped hys besynes departyd/ & .ij. or .iii.7 dayes after the furst gëtylman seyng hys ryng on the others fynger chalengyd yt 8 of hym & he9 denyed yt hym & bad hi tell wher he had lost it & he seyd i such a gentylwomans

- * gë tyll] Orig. reads gë yll.
- in one nyght] Hazl. both in one nyght.
- ⁵ at] Orig. reads ad.
- 6 the ij.] Hazl. the seconde.
- 7 ij. or iii.] Hazl. two or thre.
- * chalengyd yt] Hazl. and chalenged it.
- 9 & he] Orig. reads he &.

bed/ than quod the other & ther founde I yt/ & the one fayd he wolde haue yt/ the other fayd he shulde not/tha they agreyd to be juggid by the next mã that they mote/1 & it fortunid theym to mete with the husbad of the sayd gentyll woma & defyryd hym of his best Jugemet showing hym all hole? mater/ then quod he by my iugemet he that owd3 the shetys should haue the ryng/the quod they & for your good iugemet you shall haue the ryng.

VII. Of the husband man that askyd for master py/pot the phy/y/yo.

Wanting in Hazl. B. Waldis, "Esopus," iv. 23. In Jasander, "Der Teutsche Historien Schreiber," Frankf. et Leipz. 1730, No. 128, p. 246, a similar story is related: a peasant asks for Dr. Lindwurm (Dragon) instead of Dr. Drachen, &c. Jt. No. 27; Jt. Taylor, "Wit and Mirth," p. 101.

N a vyllage in fussex there dwellyd a husbandmä whose wyfe fortunyd to fall fyk. Thys husbandman came to the preest of the church and desyryd hys councell what thyng was best to help his wyfe/ whych answeryd hym & sayd yt in bredstrete in londo there was a connyng Phefycyon whose name is callyd master Jordayne/ Go to hym & shew hym that thy wyfe is fyk and Jmpotent & not able to go & shew hym her water and beseech hym to be good master to the/ and praye hym to do hys cure vppon her: and I warrant he wyll tech the some medsyne that shall help her. Thys husbandman folowyng hys councell cã to london & askyd of dyuers men which was the way to good ale strete fo yt euery man yt hard hym laught hym to scorne. At the last on yt harde hym askyd him whether it were not bred strete that he wold haue/ By god quod the husbandmã ye say treuth: for I wyst well it was other brede or drink: So whe they had taught hym the way to bred strete & was eteryd into ye strete he askyd of dyuers men where one master Pyspot dwellyd whych fayd they knew no fuch mã & laught at hym apace. At last one askyd him whether it were not master Jordayn ye physycio. ye ye same quod ye husbandma for I wot well a iordayn & a pyspot is all one. So whe they had shewyd hym hys house he wet thyder & cã to hym & dyd hys erãd thys & fayd/ Syr if it please your mashyp I vnderstand ye ar callyd a conyng confusyon: So it is my wyfe is syk & omnypotent & may not go & here Ihaue brought you her water I besech you do your corage vppon her & I shall gyue your mashyp a good reward. The phefycio pseynyng by the water yt she was weke of nature bad hym get her mete yt were restoratyue & specyally if he coud let her haue a poudgarnet & to let her not ouercome her stomak wt mych mete tyll she haue an apetyte. Thys husbadma herd him speke of a poundgarnet & an apetite had wend he had spoken of a pound of garlyk and of an ape & shortly bought a pound of garlyk & after went to the stylyard & bought an ape of one of the marchantys & brought both home to hys wyfe and tyed the ape wt a cheyn at hys beddys fete/ & made hys wyfe to ete the pound of garlyk whether she wolde or no/ whereby she fell in so great a lask that it purgyd all the corrupcio out of her body: whereby & by reso yt the ape that was tyde ther made so many mokkys skyppys & knakkys that made her oftymys to be mery & laugh that thankyd be god she was shortly restoryd to helth.

¹ mote] Hazl. dyd mete.

² all hole] Hazl. all the hole.

³ owd] Hazl. ought.

⁴ ftrete | Orig. reads strere.

¶ By thys tale ye may se that oft tymys medesyns taken at aduenturys do as mich good to the Pacyent as medesyns geuen by the solempne coucell of conyng physycyons.

VIII. Of the scoler that bare his shoys to cloutyng.

A fimilar affectation in "Neuvermehrte lustige Pennal-Possen," s. l. & a. 8vo. sign. E. 6,

N the vnyuerfyte of Oxonford there was a skoler yt delytyd mich to speke eloquent english & curious termis/ And cã to y° cobler wyth hys shoys whych were pikid before as they vsyd yt seson¹ to haue them cloutyd & sayd thys wyse/ Cobler I pray the set me .ii. tryangyls & .ii.² semy cercles vppon my subpedytals & I shall gyue the for thy labor/ This cobler³ because he vnderstode hym not half well⁴ aswerid shortly & sayd/ Syr youre eloquence passith myne stelligence/ but I promyse you yf ye⁵ meddyll wyth me/ the clowtyng of your shone shall coste you .iij.6 pence.

¶ By thys tale me may lerne yt it is foly to fludy to speke eloquetly before them that be rude & vnlernyd.

as they whyd that seson] Hazl. (as they used that tyme).

² ij] Hazl. two.

³ This cobler Hazl. The cobeler.

⁴ half well] Hazl. halfe.

ye] Hazl. he.

⁶ iij] Hazl. thre.

IX. Of him that fayd that a womās tong was lightist met of degestio.

The fource of this tale is Johannes de Bromyard, "Summa prædicantium," s. l. & a. fol. Litt. L. v. § 21, Exempl. i.: "Patet per historiam qua fertur infirmum respondisse medico dicenti: quod comederet de parte piscium caude propinquiori: quia sanior erat pars: quia plus mouebatur: ergo inquit infirmus: lingua uxoris mee sanissima est, quia continue mouetur." Reprinted from a MS. in the British Museum in Th. Wright, "Latin Stories from MSS. of the 13th and 14th Centuries," London, 1842; (Percy Society, vol. viii.), No. 132: "De Linguis Mulierum."

Another version is found in Vincentii Bellovacensis, "Speculum Morale," Duaci, 1624, sol. 86: "Narratvr de quodam, quod cum ipse in mari haberet vxorem suam secum lingualam, grauem ad tolerandum: cum imminente tempestate clamatum esset a nautis, quod grauiora de naui proiicerentur, ille exhibuit vxorem dicens quod in tota naui non erat aliquid grauius lingua eius." It is imitated in H. Bebelii, "Facetiæ, opuscula," s. l. & a. (circa 1512), 4°. sign. Cc, verso: "De quodam in tempestate maris deprehenso (de alio)," and repeated in Joh. Gastius, "Convivalium Sermonum," tom. i. p. 281, Basil, 1549.

CERTAYN artificer in londo there was which was fore fyk that coud not well dygest hys mete/ to who a phyfyco cam to gyue hym councell & feyd yt he must vie to ete metis yt be light of dygestyon as fmall byrdys/1 as sparous or swallous & especyall² y^t byrd y^t ys callyd a wagtale whose sleshe ys meruelouse lyght of dygestyö because that byrd ys euer mouyng & styryng. The sik man heryng the phesicion seyd so answeryd hym & seyd/ Syr yf that be the cause y^t those birdys be lyght of dygestyon/ Than I know a mete mych lyghter of dygestion tha other sparow swallow or wagtayle/ & that ys my wyuys tog for it is neuer in rest but euer mouying & styrryng.

¶ By thys tale ye may lerne a good generall rule of phefyk.

x. Of the woman that followyd her fourth husbandys herce & wept.

WOMAN ther was whych had had .iiii. husbades. It fortunyd also that this fourth husband died & was brought to chirch vppon ye bere/who this woma folowyd & made gret mone & wext very fory. In so mych that her neybours thought she wold sowne & dy for sorow/wherfor one of her gossyps cam to her & spake to her in her ere & as [mall byrdys] Hazl. and fmall byrdys.

² especyall] Hazl. especyally.

bad her for goddes sake to comfort¹ her self & refrayne that lamentacon or ellys it wold hurt her gretly² & pauenture put her in ieoperdy of her lyse. To who this woma asweryd & sayd/ I wys good gosyp I haue gret cause to morne if ye knew all/ for I haue byryed .iii. husbandys besyde thys man/ but I was neuer i the case yt I am now/ for there was not one of the but whe that I folowid the corse to chyrch yet I was sure alway³ of an other husbad before that ye corse³ cam out of my house/ & now I am sure of no nother husband & therfore ye may be sure I haue gret cause to be sad and heuy.

¶ By thys tale ye may se that the olde puerbe ys trew that yt is as gret pyte to se a woman wepe as a gose to go baresote.

xI. Of the woman that fayd her wooer came to late.

This tale is taken from H. Bebelii, "Facetiæ, opuscula," s. l. & a. 4°. sign. Ggii: "De quadam muliere citissime nubente post obitum primi viri: quidam caupo erat ad pontem æni; vulgo Isbruck, qui cum ad medium annum valetudinarius

¹ to comfort] Hazl. comfort.

² hurt her gretly] Hazl. hurt her.

³ I was fure alway] Hazl. I was fure.

^{*} before that the corse] Hazl, before the corse.

vitam tandem cum morte commutaffet, vxor eius funus prosecuta miserabiles edebat eiulatus, obstinateque lachrymabat, adeo vt ducere eam cogeretur seruus suus, qui eam pro virili parte consolabatur. Cum vero ipsa quereretur se neminem habere cum quo cauponam administraret (vt moris est mulieribus multa conquerentibus) famulus sua in homines merita, qualiter quoque notus esset declarando, appellauit eam de coniugio. Illa inter eiulandum dixit. Ah nimis sero petisti, paulo enim ante alteri promisi."

Imitated in "Uncasing of Machivils Instructions to his Sonne," 1613, sign. C, 3, and in J. W. Kirchhof, "Wendunmuth," Frankf. 1573, i. No. 346, fol. 333. Joh. Pet. de Memel, "Lustige Gesellschaft," ed. 1695, No. 524, goes even farther, the wife was already engaged before the death of her husband.

NOTHER woman there was that knelyd at y mas of requie whyle the corse of her husbande lay on the bere in the chyrch. To whom a yonge man came to speke wyth her in her ere as thoughe hyt had bene for som matre concernyng the funerallys/howe be yt he spake of no such matter but only wowyd her that he myghte be her husbande/to whome she answeryde & sayde thus/ Syr by my trouthe I am sory that ye come so late/ for I am sped all redy/ For I was made sure yester day to a nother man.

¶ By thys tale ye may perceyue that women ofte tymes be wyse and lothe to lose any tyme.

XII. Of the mylner with the golden thombe.

See Brand's "Popular Antiquities," 1849, vol. iii. p. 387; Hazlitt's edition, p. 23, note 2, and p. 125, note to p. 23.

MERCHANT that thought to deride a myllner feyd vnto ye mylner fyttyng among company. Sir I haue hard fay that euery trew mylner that tollythe trewlye hath a gyldeyn thombe/ the mylner answered & seyd it was trewth/1 Then quod the merchaunt I pray the let me se thy thomb/ & when the mylner shewyd hys thomb the merchaunt sayd I can not perceyue yt thy thombe is gylt/ but yt ys but 2 as all other mennys thobis be/to whom the mylner answeryd & seyd/ Syr trothe yt ys that my thob is gylt how be it3 ye haue no power to se it/ for ther is a properte euer incidet therto yt he yt ys a cokecold shall neuer haue power to se yt.

XIII. Of the horsman of yrelond that prayd Oconer to hang up the frere.

A very similar story in "Neuvermehrte lustige Pennal-Possen," s. l. & a. 8vo. sign. C, 5 verso; and in Jacob Frey, ¹ trewth] Hazl. true. 2 but it is but] Hazl. but it is.

2 how be it] Hazl. but.

"Die Gartengesellschaft," s. l. & a. (1556), Cap. 125, fol. 122: "Einen Dieb wolt man henken, der bat den Pfarrherrn, er solt das Nachtmahl für ihn essen," ed. Franks. 1590, fol. 97.

NE callyd Oconer an yrish lorde toke an horseman prysoner that was one of hys gret enmys/ whiche for any request or yntrety yt yo horsman made gaue iugement that he shulde incotynet be hagyd/ & made a frere to shryue hym and bad hym make hym redy to dye. Thys frere yt shroue hym examyned hym of dyuers fynes & askyd hym amog othere whyche were the grettyste synnys that euer he dyde/ thys horseman answeryd & fayde one of the grettyst actys that euer I dyde whyche I now most repent is that when I toke Oconer the laste weke in a churche and ther I myght haue brennyd hym church and all & because I had conscyence & pyte of brennyng of the church I taryed ye tyme fo long yt oconer escaped/ & that same deferring of brennyng of the church & so long taryeng of that tyme is one of the worst actys y' euer I dyd wherof I moste repente/ Thys frere perceyuyng hym in that mynd fayd pece man 5 in the name of god & change yt mynde ⁴ One callyd] Hazl. One whiche was called.

⁵ pece man] Hazl. peace.

& dye in charite or els thou shalt neuer come in heuen/ nay quod the hors man I wyll neuer change y' mynde what so euer shall come to my foule/ thys frere pceyuyng hym thys styll to contynew hys mide ca to oconer & feyd fyr in ye name of god haue some pyte vppo thys mannys fowle & let hym not dye now tyll he be in a better mynde/ For yf he dye now he ys fo far out of charyte yt vtterly hys foule shalle be dampnyd/ and shewyd hym what mynde he was in & all the hole matter as ys before shewyd. Thys horsman heryng ye frere thys intrete for hym fayd to oconer thys/ Oconer thou feeyst well by thys mannys reporte yt yf I dye now I am out of charyte & not redy to go to heuen & fo it ys yt I am now out of charyte in dede/ but thou feest well yt this frere ys a good man he is now1 well dysposyd & in charyte/ and he is redy to go to heuen & fo am not I/ therfore I pray the hang vp thys frere whyle that he hys redy to go to heuyn and lette me tary tyl a nother tyme yt I may be i charyte and redy & mete to go to heuyn. This Oconer heryng this mad answere of hym sparyd the man & forgaue hym hys lyfe at that feafon.

¶ By thys ye may fe that he that is in daunger of his enmye yt hath no pyte/he can do no better than² fhew to hym the vttermoste of hys malycyous mynde whych that he beryth toward hym.

¹ he is now] Hazl. and he is now.

xIV. Of the prest that sayd nother corpus meus nor corpum meum.

HE archdekyn of Essex y had bene long in auctoryte in a tyme of vysytacion when all the preestys apperyd before hym callyd afyde .iii. of y° yõg prestys whych were accusyd yt they coud not well say theyr deuyne seruyce/ & askyd of the whe they sayd mas whether they sayd corpus meus or corpu meu. The furst preest sayd yt he sayd corpus meus. The secod sayd yt he sayd corpus meus. The secod sayd yt he sayd corpu meu. And the he askyd of the thyrd how he sayd/whych answeryd & sayd thus/ syr because it is so gret a dout & dyuers men be in dyuers opynyons/therfore because I wold be sure I wold not offend whe I come to y° place I leue it clene out & say nothyng therfore/wherfore he³ then openly rebukyd them all thre. But dyuers that were present thought more defaut in hym because he hym wherfore he] Hazl. wherfore the bysshoppe.

² than Hazl. but.

felfe before tyme had admyttyd them to be preeftys.

¶ By thys tale ye may se that one ought to take hede how he rebukyth an other less it torne most to hys owne rebuke.

xv. Of the .ii. frerys wherof the one louyd not the ele hed nor the other the tayle.

WO frerys fat at a gentylmans tabyll whych had before hym o a fastyng day an ele & cut the hed of the ele & layd it vppo one of ye Freres trechars/but the Frere because he wold haue had of ye myddyll part of the ele sayd to the gentylman he louyd no ele heddes/this gentylman also cut the tayle of ye ele & leyd it on the other Freres trechar/he lykewyse because he wold haue had of the myddyll pte of ye ele sayd he louyd no ele taylys. Thys gentylma perceyuyng that: gaue the tayle to the Frere ye sayd he louyd not the hed/& gaue the hed to hym that sayd he louyd not ye tayle. And as for the myddell parte of the ele he ete part him self & part he gaue to other solke at ye table/wherfore these freres for anger wold ete neuer a moffell/ & so they for all theyr craft & subtylte were not onely deceyued of yo best mossell of yo ele/ but therof had no part at al.

1 to the Frere] Hazl. to hym.

¶ By this ye se that they that couet the best part somtyme therfore lose the meane part and all.

xvi. Of the welchmä that shroue hym for brekyng his fast on the fryday.

This tale is found in Poggii, "Facetiæ, Opera," Basil, 1538, fol. p. 439: "De quodam pastore simulatim confitente: Pastor ouium ex ea regni Neapolitani ora, quæ olim latrociniis operam dabant semel confessorem adijt, sua peccata dicturus. Cum ad facerdotis genua procubuisset, parce mihi (inquit ille lachrimans) pater mi, quoniam graviter deliqui. Cum juberet dicere quid effet. Atque ille sæpius id verbum interasset, tanquam qui nepharium admifisset salus. Tandem hortatu sacerdotis, ait se cum caseum faceret, ieiunij tempore, expressura lactis guttas quasdam quas non spreuisset in os desilijsse. Tum sacerdos qui mores illius patriæ nosset subridens, cum dixisset illum delinquisse qui quadragesimam non seruasset, quæsivit numquid aliis obnoxius esset peccatis? Abnuente pastore, rogauit num cum alijs pastoribus quenquam peregrinum ut mos esset illius regionis transeuntem spoliasset, aut peremisset? Sæpius inquit, uterque in re cum reliquis sum versatus. istud ait apud nos ita est consuetum, ut nulla conscientia fiat," &c.

WELCHMAN dwellynge in a wylde place of walys came to hys curate in the tyme of lent & was cofeffyd. &

when his confessyon was in maner at the end the curate asked him whether he had any other thyng to fay yt greuyd his cofcyece/ whych fore abasshyd answeryd no word a gret whyle/ at last by exortacion of hys gooftly fader he fayd yt there was one thyng in his mynd that gretly greuyd hys cosciece which he was ashamed to vtter/ for it was fo greuous yt he trowid god wold neuer forgyue hym/ to whom the curate asweryd & fayd yt goddys mercy was aboue all/ & bad hym not dyspayre in the mercy of god/ For what fo euer it was yf he were repentaute yt god wold forgyue hym/ And fo by long exortacion at the last he shewyd it & seyd thus/ Syr it happenyd onis that as my wyfe was making a chese vppon a fryday I wold haue? sayed whether it had ben falt or fresh and toke a lytyll of the whey in my hand & put it in my mouth & or I was ware part of it went downe my throte agaynst my wyll & so I brake my fast/ to whom the curate fayd & if ther be no nother

^{&#}x27; whether] Hazl. and.

² I wold haue] Hazl. I wolde fayne haue.

thyng I warant god shall forgiue the. So whã he had well comfortyd hym wt ye mercy of god the curate prayd hym to answer a question & to tell hym treuth/ & when the welchman had promyfyd to tell the treuth/ the curate fayd that there were robberys and murders done nye the place where he dwelt & dyuers men foud flayne & askyd hym whether he were cosentyng to any of them/ to who he answerid & sayd yes & sayd he was ptee to many of them & dyd helpe to robbe and to sle3 dyuers of them. Then the curate askyd hym why he dyd not cofesse him therof/ the welch man assweryd & sayd he toke yt for no fynne for it was a custome amonge them yt whan any boty came of any rych merchaunt rydyng yt it was but a good neybours dede one to help a nother when one callyd a nother/ & fo they toke that but for good felyshyp & neybourhod.

¶ Here ye may e fe y fome haue remorse of conscyence of small venyall sinys & fere not to do gret offencys wout shame of y world or drede of god: & as y coen puerb is they stuble at a straw & lepe ouer a blok.

³ to sle] Orig. reads tosle.

⁴ ye may] Hazl. maye ye.

xVII. Of the merchaut of lodo that put nobles i his mouth i his deth hed.

RYCH couetous marchâte ther was y' dwellyd in Lödon whych euer gaderyd money & coud neuer fynd in hys hert to spend noght1 vppon hym self nor vppon no mã els/ whych fell fore fyk/ & as he lay on hys deth bed had hys purs lyeng at his beddys hed/ & had fuche a loue to hys money that he put his hand in his purs & toke out therof .x. or .xii. li î nobles & put them in his mouth/ And because his wyfe and other pceyuyd him very fyk and lyke to dye they exortyd hym to be confessyd and brought ye curate vnto him/whych when they had causyd hym to sey Benedicite ye curat bad hym cry god mercy & shew his synnys.2 Than this fyk man began to fey I cry god mercy I haue offendyd in ye .vij. dedly fynnys & broken the .x. comaundementys/ & because of the gold in hys mouth he mufflede so in hys speche that the curate cowde not well vnderstande hym/ wherefore the curate asked hym what he hadde in hys mouthe that letted hys speche/ I wys mastere persone quod the syk man mustelynge

¹ noght] Hazl. ought.

² shew his synnys Hazl. shewe to hym.

I haue nothyng in my mouth but a lyttyll money because I wot not whether I shall go I thoughte I wolde take some spendyng money wyth me for I wot not what nede I shall haue theros/ And incontynent after that seyynge dyed before he was confessed or repentant that ony man could perceue/ and so by lykelyhode went to the deuyll.

¶ By thys tale ye may fe that they that all theyre lyuys wylle neuer do charyte to theyr neyghbours/ that god in tyme of theyr dethe wyll not fuffer them to haue grace of repentaunce.

xviii. Of the mylner that stale the nuttys & of the tayler that stale a shepe.

The source of this tale is perhaps the fabliau Etula, in Legrand d'Aussy, "Fabliaux," tom. iii. p. 77; better in Sinner, "Catalogus Codicum MSS." tom. iii. p. 379, No. 14. It is also related in the "Scala Celi (liber istel vocatur Scala Celi, Ulme, Joh. Zainer, 1480, fol.), de furto, quinto," fol. 101 verso: "Legitur quod cum duo latrones convenissent ut furarentur nuces et alter carnes; perveniens ad fores ecclesiæ qui furatus suerat nuces incepit frangere et comedere eas ibi. Cujus sonitum audiens ille, qui custodiebat ecclesiam, credens, quod dæmon ingressus est claustrum et cuidam claudo, qui ire non potuit et forti rustico videnti nunciavit. Et dum ingressi fuissent ecclesiam, latro comedebat nuces, credens quod esset socius suus, qui portaret arietem, incepit clamare: Estne bene pinguis quem portas? Tunc rusticus territus qui portabat claudum, credens quod esset dæmon: Nescio si est pinguis vel macer, sed nunc relinquo eum vobis. Et projecto claudo ad terram tibiam aliam sibi frigit." Also in Joh. de Bromyard, "Summa prædicantium," Litt. O, ii. § 6.

Imitations are: J. Pauli, "Schimpff und Ernst," Strassburg, 1535, fol. No. 76, fol. 15; G. Wickram, "Der Rollwagen," s. l. 1557, No. 67, (Frankf. 1590, fol. 72: "Wie zween Dieb einem Pfassen das Podagram vertriben"), reprinted in Wackernagel, "Deutsches Lesebuch," Wickram; Hans Sachs, "Gedichte," vol. ii. l. 4, fol. 73, Nürnberg, 1591, fol.: "Die zwen diebischen Bachanten in dem Toden Kercker."

HERE was a certayn ryche husbandman in a vyllage whych loued nottes meruelously well & set trees of filberdys

& other nut trees in his orchard/ & norishid them well all hys lyfe/ & when he dyed he made hys executours to make promise to bery wt hym yn hys graue a bage of nottis or els they sholde not be hys executours/ which executours for fere of losyng theyre1 romys fulfyllyd hys wyll2 & dyd so. It happenyd yt the same nyght after that he was beryed there was a mylnere in a of lofyng theyre] Hazl. of lefynge of theyre.

² wyll] Hazl. mynde.

whyte cote came to this mays garden to thetets to stele a bag of nottis/& in ye way he met wt a tayler in a blak cote an vnthrift of hys accountance & shewyd hym hys intent/ This tayler lykewyse shewyd hym yt he intedyd ye same tyme to stele a shepe/& so they both there agreyd to go forthward euery man seuerally wt hys purpose & after yt they apoynted to make good chere ech wt other & to mete agayne in ye chyrch porch/& he that came furst to tary for the other.

This mylner when he had spede of hys nottis came furst to the chyrch porche & there taryed for hys selowe and the mene whyle satte styll there & knakked nottys.

It fortuned than the fexten of the church because yt was abowt .ix. of the clok cam to ryng curfu. & when he lokyd in y porch & saw one all in whyte knakkyng nottes/ he had went it had bene y dede man rysen owt of hys graue knakkynge y nottes y wer byryed w hym & ran home agayn in all hast and tolde to a krepyll y was in hys howse what he had sene. This crepyll thus heryng rebukyd y sexten & seyd y ³ to thentent] i. e. to the entent.

⁴ curfu | i. e. evening-bell.

⁵ went] i. e. weened.

⁶ thus heryng] Hazl. thus herynge hym.

yf he were able to go he wold go thyder & coiure ye sprite/ by my trouth quod ye sexten & yf thou darst do yt I wyl bere the on my nek & so they both agreed. The fexten toke ye crepul on hys nek & cam in to ye chyrchyard agayn/ & ye mylner in yo porch faw one comyng bering a thing on his bak had went it had ben ye taylour comyng wt the shepe & rose vp to mete the/ & as he cam towarde the he askeyd & seyd/ Is he fat/ is he fat/ yo fexten heryng hym fey fo/ for fere cast the crepull down & seyd fat or lene take hym ther for me/1 and ran away/ & the creple by myracle was made hole & rã away as fast as he or faster/ This mylner perceyuing yt they were .ii.2 & yt one ran after a nother supposyng3 yt one had spyed ye tayler stelyng ye shepe & yt he had ron after hym to haue taken hym/ and fered yt fom body also had spyed hym stelyng nottes4 he for fere left hys nottes behynd hym and as fecretly as he cowde ran home to hys myll/ And anon after yt he was gon ye tayler cam wt the stolyn shepe vppon hys nek to the chyrch porch 5 to

¹ ther for me] Hazl. as he is.

² .ii.] Hazl. two. ³ fuppofyng] Hazl. thoughte.

⁴ and fered that som body also had spyed hym stelyng nottes] Hazl. and fearyng that one had spyed hym also stelynge the nuttes.

⁵ chyrch porch] Hazl. churche.

seke the mylner & when he fownd ther the not shalys he supposed yt hys felow had be ther and gone home as he was in dede/ wherefore he toke vp ye shepe agayne on hys nek and went6 to ward the myl/ But yet duryng this whyle the fexte which ran away went not to hys owne house but wet to the pysh prystis chaber/ & shewd hym how the spryte of ye man was ryse out of hys graue knakkig nottes as ye haue hard before/ wherfor ye prest sayd that he wold go coiure hym yf the fexten wold go w' hym/ & so they both agreed/ ye prest dyd on hys surples & a stole about hys nek & toke holy water wt hym and cam wt the fexte toward ye church/ & as sone as he enteryd in to7 ye church yarde, The tayler wt the whyte shepe on hys nek intendyng as I before haue shewid yow to go down to ye myll met wt them & had went yt ye prest in hys furples had ben ye mylner in hys whyte cote/ & feyd to hym by god I haue hym I haue hym meanyng by8 the shepe yt he had stolyn/ the prest perceyuynge the tayler all in blak & a whyte thyng on hys nek had went it had ben ye deuyll beryng away the fpryte of yo dede man yt was beryed & ran away as faste as he coud takyng yo way downe toward the myll/ & yo fexten ronnyng and went] Hazl, went.

 in to] Hazl, in.
 by] i. e. thereby.

after hi. This tayler feyng one folowyng hi had went yt one had followed the mylner to haue don hym fome hurt & thought he wold folow if nede were to help ye mylner. & went forth tyl he cam to the myll & knokked at yo myldore/ yo mylner beyng wiyn asked who was ther ye tayler aswerd & faid by god I have caught one of them & made hi fure & tyed hym fast by yo leggys menynge by the shepe yt he had stolen & had the on hys nek tyed fast by the leggys. 1 But ye mylner heryng hym sey yt he had hym tyed fast by the leggys had wente it had be the constable yt had take the tayler for stelling of the shepe & had tyed him by the leggys/ & ferid yt he had comen to haue taken hym also for stelyng of the nottys/ wherfore the mylner openyd a bak dore & ran away as fast as he coud. The taylour heryng the bak dore openyng wet on ye other fyde of ye myll/ & there saw the mylner ronnyng away/ & stode there a littyll whyle musyng wt ye shepe on his nek. Then was the parysh preest & the fexte standyng there vnder the mylhouse hydyng them for fere & faw the taylour agayn wt ye shepe on his nek had wend styll it had bene the dyuyll wt the fpryt of the dede man on hys nek & for fere ran away/ but because they knew not menynge by the shepe . . . by the leggys.] Wanting in Hazl.

the ground well/ the preest lepte into a dyche almost ouer the hed lyke to be drounyd that he cryed wyth a loud voyce help help. Then the taylour lokyd about & saw the mylner rone away & the sexten a nother way & hard the preest cry help: had wend it had bene the costable wt a gret copany cryeng for help to take hym & to bryng hym to pryson for stelyng of ye shepe wherfore he threw downe the shepe & ran away a nother way as saste as he coud/ & so euery man was afferd of other wythout cause.

¶ By thys ye may se well it is foly for any man to fere a thyng to mych tyll that he se some proue or cause.

xix. Of the .iiii. elemétys where they shulde fone be found.

A substantially similar story occurs in "Tre hundrede udvalgte historier, &c." 4th edit. Copenh. 1781, p. 198 (a translation of Pauli's "Schimpss und Ernst"); reprinted in R. Nyerup, "Almindelig Morskabs laesning," Copenh. 1816, p. 254. Also in H. Sachs, "Gedichte," buch i. thiel 3, Nüremberg, 1558, fol. s. 255: "Ein gesprech der vier Element mit Fraw Warheit."

N ye old world when all thyng coud fpeke ye .iiii. elementys met togeder for many thyngys whych they had to do because they must medyll alway one with a nother: & had comunicacio to geder of dyuers matters/ & because they coud not conclude all theyr maters at yt feafon they appoyntyd to breke comunycacyon for yt tyme & to mete agayn a nother tyme/ therfore ech one of the shewyd to other wher theyre most abydyng was & where theyr felows shuld fynd them if nede shuld requyre: & furst ye yerth sayd brethern ye know well as for me I am pmanet alway & not remouable therfor ye may be fure to haue me alway whan ye lyst. The water seyd yf ye lyste to feke me ye shalbe sure euer1 to haue me vnder a toft of grene rushys or ellys in a womans eye. The wynde fayd yf ye lyst to seke me² ye shalbe fure euer to haue me amonge aspyn leuys or els in a womans tong. Then quod the fyre yf any of you lyst to seke me: ye shall euer3 be sure to fynd me in a flynt stone or els in a womans hart.

¶ By thys tale ye may lerne aswell the propertes of y^e.iiii. elementys as ther properte of a woman.

^{&#}x27; euer] wanting in Hazl.

² to seke me] Hazl. to speke wyth me.

^{*} euer] wanting in Hazl.

⁴ properte] Hazl. properte is.

xx. Of the woman that powryd the potage in the Tuggys male.

HERE was a iustyce but late in ye realme of englond called master Uauysour a very homly man & rude of condycions & louyd neuer to sped mych money/ This master Uauysour rode on a tyme in hys cyrcute in a place of the north cotrey⁵ where he had agreed w' the shyryf for a certayn some of money for hys chargys thorowe the shyre/ so that at euery Inne & lodgyng thys master vauefour payd for hys own costys. It fortunyd so yt when he cam to a certayn lodgyng he comaunded one Torpyn hys seruat to se yt he vsed good husbondry 6 & to saue suche thynges as were laft & to cary it wt hym to serue hym at the next baytyng. Thys Torpyn doyng hys masters comaŭdemet toke ye brokyn brede brokyn mete & all fych thig yt was laft & put it in hys male/7 The wyfe of ye house preyuyng yt he toke all fuche fragmentys & vytayle w' hym y' was laft

⁻⁶ in a place of the north contrey] Hazl. in the northe contrey.

⁶ husbondry] i. e. economy.

⁷ in hys mayle] Hazl. in his maysters cloth sak. [Hazl. has cloth sak for male throughout the whole tale.]

& put it in hys male/1 she brought vp yt podege yt was laft i the pot & when torpyn had torned hys bak a lytyll fyde2 she pouryd ye podege in to ye male whych ran vpon hys robe of skarlet & other hys garmetys & rayed3 them very euyll that they were mych hurt therwt. Thys Torpyn fodeynly tornyd him & faw it/ reuylyd the wyfe therfor & ran to hys master & told hym what she had don/ wherfor master Uauesour incotinet callyd yo wyfe & feyd to her thus. Thou drab quod he what hast thou do why hast thou pouryd ye podege in my male & marryd my raymet & gere/ O fyr quod ye wyfe I know well ye ar a judge of ye realme/ & I perceyue by you: your mid is to do ryght & to have that that is your owne/ & your mynd is to haue all thyng wt you yt ye haue payd for/ both brokyn brede mete 5 & other thynges y' is left: & so it is reason that ye haue/ & therfore because your servant hath taken the brede & the mete6 & put it i your male I haue therfore put in your male7 the podege yt be laft because ye haue well & truly payd for them hys male] Hazl. the cloth fake.

⁴ that that is] Hazl. that is.

brokyn brede mete] Hazl. broken mete.

⁶ the brede and the mete] Hazl. the broken mete.

⁷ therfore put in your male] Hazl. therin put.

for yf⁸ I shuld kepe ony thyng from you y^t ye haue payd for: peraduenture ye wold troble me in the law an other tyme.

¶ Here ye may se yt he yt playth the nygarde to mych sometyme yt torneth hym to hys owne losse.

xxi. Of the weddyd men that cam to heuyn to clayme theyr herytage.

A corresponding tale in Fernan Caballero, "Elia, ó la España treinta años ha," Madrid, 1857, page 93. (Translated into German by H. Wolf, Paderborn, 1860, p. 116.)

CERTAYNE weddyd man there was whyche whan he was dede ca to heuen gatys to saynt Peter & sayd he ca to claym his herytage 9 which he had deseruyd. Saynt Peter askyd hym what he was / & he sayd a weddyd mã / anon Seynt peter openyd ye gatys & bad hym come in 10 & sayd he was worthy to haue hys herytage because he had had much trobyll & was worthy to haue a crowne of glory. Anon after ythere cam a nother man that claymyd

⁸ for yf | Hazl. Yf.

⁹ his herytage] Hazl. hys bad heretage.

¹⁰ come in Hazl. to come in.

heuyn/ & fayd to Seynt Peter he had had .ii. wyuys/ to whom Seynt peter afweryd and fayd come in for thou art worthy to haue a doble crown of glory/ for thou haft had doble troble/ at ye last there cam a thyrd claymyng heuen & fayd to Saynt peter that he had had .iii. wyuys & desyryd to come in/ what quod Seynte Peter thou hast bene onys in troble & therof delyueryd/ and then wyllyngly woldyst be trobyld agayn & yet agayn therof delyueryd/ & for all yt couldest not beware ye thyrde tyme/ but enterest wyllyngely in trobyll agayne therefore go thy way to hell for thou shalte neuer come in heuen for thou arte not worthy.

¶ Thys tale is a warnyng to them that haue³ bene twyse in parell to beware how they come therin the thyrd tyme.

xxII. Of the merchaunte that charged hys sonne to synde one to synge for hys sowle.

This story originates in Joh. de Bromyard, "Summa Prædicantium," Litt. E, viii. § 17: "Sicut patet de illo qui moriens, vxore executrice facta: bouem pro anima sua legauit vt fertur, vxor vero bouem et gallum simul ad forum ducens: utrumque fimul vendidit hac conuentione: quod emptor pro gallo marcam anglicanam et pro boue obolum daret, quod cum factum fuisset: obolum pro anima dedit marito." The same story in Ropertus Holkot, "Super Libros Sapientiæ," Reutlingen, 1489, fol. 111. Imitated in Pauli, "Schimpss und Ernst," Strassburg, 1535, No. 438, fol. 71; in Gerlach, "Eutrapeliarum libri III." Lips. 1656, lib.i. No. 656, p. 157; in J. P. de Memel, "Lustige Gesellschaft," ed. 1695, No. 622, p. 263; and in "Ein reicher Vorrath Anmuthiger Ergoetzlichkeiten," ed. 1702, No. 142, p. 94.

¹ a thyrd] Hazl. the thyrd. ² couldeft] Hazl. coulde. ³ haue] in orig. houe.

RYCH merchant of london there was which had but one fonne y' was fomewhat vnthryfty therefore his fader vppon hys deth bed called hym to hym & seyd he knew well yt he had ben vnthrifty howbeit yf he knew he wold amend hys condicios he wolde make hym his executoure & leue hym his goodys so yt he wold promyset to praye for his sowle: & to fynde one dayly to syng for hym/ whyche thyng to performe hys son there made a faythfull promyse. After yt thys ma made hym hys executoure & dyed/ But after that hys sone kept such ryot yt in short tyme he had wasted & spend all & had nothynge left but a hen & a cok that was hys faders. It fortunyd than that one of hys

⁴ promyse] Hazl. promyse him.

^{5 &}amp; to fynde] Hazl. and so fynde.

Frendys came to hym & fayd he was fory y' he had wastyd so mych & askyde hym how he wolde pform hys pmyse made to hys father y' he wold kepe one to sing for him.

Thys yong man afweryd & fayd by god yet I wyll performe my promyfe/ for I wyll kepe thys fame cok alyue styll and he wyll krowe euery daye and so he shall synge euery day for my faders sowle/ & so I wyll performe my promyse well ynough.

¶ By thys ye may fe that it is wysdome for a man to do good¹ dedys hym self whyle he is here & not to trust to the prayer and promys of hys executours.

xxiii. Of the mayd washyng clothys and answered the frere.

HERE was a mayde stode by a ryuers syde in her smok washynge clothys.

And as she stoupyd oft tymys in her fmokke² cleuyd betwene her butokkes/ By whome there came a frere feynge her and fayde in fport. Mayd mayde take hede for Bayard bytys on the brydyll. Nay wys master frere quod the mayden he doth but wype hys mouth and wenyth ye wyll come & kysse hym.

¹ good] orig. reads goodys.

² oft tymys in her smokke] Hazl. ofttymes, her smocke.

¶ By thys ye may fe that a womans³ aniwer is neuer to feke.

XXIV. Of the .iii. wyse men of gotam.

The same story in "Merie Tales of the Mad Men of Gotam." The first tale in "Shakespeare Jest Books," iii. p. 4.

CERTAYN man there was dwellynge in a towne callyd Gotam which went to a fayre .iii. myle of to by shepe/& as he cam ouer a brydge he met wt one of hys neybours & told him whether he went/ & he askyd hym whych way he wold bryng the whych sayd he wold brig the ouer the same brydge/ nay quod the other ma but thou shalt not/ by god quod he but I wyll/ yo other agayn said he shuld not/ & he agayn said he wold bryng them ouer spyte of his teth & so fell at wordys/ & at the last to buffertys that eche one knokkyd other well about the heddys wt theyre systys. To whom there cam a thyrd man which was a mylner wyth a fak of mele vppo a horse a neybour of theyrs & partyd them & 1 askyd the what was the cause of theyr varyaunce/ whych then shewyd hym the matter & cause as ye haue harde/ Thys thyrd man the mylner thought to rebuke² theyr folyshnes with³ a famylyer example & toke hys fak of mele from his hors bak & openyd it & pouryd all the mele in the fak ouer the bridge into the ronyng riuer wherby all the mele was lost & sayd thus. By my trouth neybors because ye stryue for dryuyng ouer the brydge those shepe which be not yet bought nor wot not wher they be/ me thynkyth therfore there is euyn as mych wyt in your heddys as there is mele in my fak.

³ a womans] Hazl. womans.

⁴ iii. myle of | Hazl. iii. myle for.

¶ Thys tale shewyth you that some man takyth vppo hym to shew other men wysdome when he is but a sole hym self.

i partyd them &] Hazl. paciently.

² to rebuke] Hazl. for to rebuke.

³ theyr folyshnes with] Hazl. them by.

⁴ is mele] Hazl. is mele now.

xxv. Of the gray frere that answeryd bis penytent.

A corresponding tale, see in J. Frey, "Die Gartengesellschaft," s. l. & a, cap. 30, fol. 36 verso: "Von einem Landsknecht, der einem alten Münch beichtet," ed. Frankf. 1590, fol. 29 verso.

MAN there was that came to confesse hym felf6 to a gray frere & shroue him that he had layne with a yong gentil-womã/ yº frere than askyd hym in what place/ & he said it was in a goodly chaber all nyght log in a fofte warme bed/ The frere heryng that fhruggyd in hys clothys & fayd/ now by fwete feynt fraunces then wast thou verye well at eafe.

XXVI. Of the gentylman that bare the sege borde on bis nek.

CHANDELER beig a wydower dwellig at holborne brige in lodo had a fayre doughter/ whom a yog gentylman of dauys Inne woyd gretly? to haue hys pleafure of her/ whych by long fute to her made at hym self] Hazl. hym.

^{*} there was | orig. reads there man.

⁷ gretly | Hazl, fore.

ye last grautyd him & poyntyd hym to coe vppo a night to her faders house in ye euenyng & she wold conuey him into her chaber fecretly whych was an inner chamber wythin her faders chaber/ fo accordig to ye poitmet all thig was pformyd So yt he lay wt her all nyght & made good chere tyll about .iiii.1 a clok i ye mornig/ at which time it fortunyd this yog getylma fell a coughig/ whych cã vppổ hym so sore ythe coud not refrayn. Thys yong wench² then fering her fader that lay in the next chauber bad hym go put hys hed in the draught lest yt her fader shuld here him: which after her councell rose in hys shyrt & so dyd/ but the because of the sauor of the draught it caufyd hym to cough mich more & louder that ye wechis fader hard hym3 & askyd of hys doughter what man was that yt coughid i her chaber/ she answeryd & sayd no body. But euer thys yog mã coughid styll more & more whom the fader heryng feyd/ by goddys body here thou lyest I wyll se who hys there & rose out of hys bed.

Thys wench perceyuyng⁵ her fader ryfyng cam

- 1 .iiii.] Hazl. foure.
- ² Thys yong wench] Hazl. Thys wench.
- 3 hard hym] Hazl. herde it.
- 4 what man was that that coughid Hazl. what man it was that coughed.
 - 5 perceyuyng] Hazl. perceyued.

to the gentylmã & fayd take hede fyr to your felf my fader comyth. Thys gentylman sodëly therwyth abashyd wolde haue pullyd hys hed out of the drawght hole whych was very streyte for hys hed that he pullyd the sege bord vp therwyth/ & hangyng about hys nek ran vppon the sader beyng an old man & gaue hym a gret fall/ & bare hym down & hurt hys arme/ & openyd the dorys & rã into ye strete wyth ye draught borde about hys nek toward dauys Inne as sast as he coud.

This wech for fere rã out of her faders house & cã not there a moneth after. Thys gentylman as he ran vppon holborne brydge met w' a colyers cart laden w' colys where there was .ii. or .iii.7 kyttysh horsys/ which when they saw thys gentylman rõnyng start asyde & threw down ye cart wyth colys/& drew it asyde & brake ye cart rope/ wherby the colys fell out some in one place some in an other/ & after the horsys brake theyr trasys & ran some toward smythfeld & some toward newgate that the colyer rã after them & was ã howre & more or he coud get his horse to geder agayn/ By whych tyme the people of the strete were rysen and cã to ye strete & saw yt strawyd wyth colys euery one for hys part gaderyd vp the ⁶ my fader comyth] Hazl. for my fader comyth.

^{7 .}ii. or .iii.] Hazl. two or thre.

colys: that ye most part of the colys were gone or the colyer had got hys horsys.

But duryng thys whyle the gëtylman wët thorow seynt andrews chyrchyard toward dauys Inne/ & there met wyth the sextë comyng to church¹ to rig to morow mas: whych when he saw the gentylman in the churchyarde in hys shyrt wt the draght bord about hys nek/ had wëd it had ben a spryt: & cryed alas alas a spryt & ran bak agayn to hys house almost at ye barrys & for fere was almost out of hys wyt yt he was ye worse halse a yere after.

Thys gentlman than because dauys Inne gatys were not open went on the bak syde & lept ouer the garden wall/ but in lepyng the sege bord so trobled hym that he fell down in to the garden & had almost broke his nek & there ley styll tyll y the pricipall cam in to the gardyn/ whych when he saw hym ly there had wend som man had be slayne & there cast ouer y wall & durst not come nye him tyll he had callyd vp hys company/ whych when many of the gentylmen wher come to gether/ lokyd well vppo him and knew hym & after releuyd hym/ But the borde comyag to church | Hazl. commynge to attend.

² [ege bord] Hazl. draught-bord.

³ that] in orig. thot.
there ley Hazl. there he lay.

yt was about hys nek causyd his hed so to swell that they coud not get it of tyll they were fayne to cutte it of with hatchettys. Thus was the wench well Japyd/6 & for fere she ran fro her fader/ her faders arme was hurt the colyar lost his colys the sexte was almost out of his wyt/ & the gentylman had almost broke his nek.

XXVII. Of the marchautys wyfe that feyd she wolde take a nap at sermon.

To take a nap at fermon or at church is quite a common faying in Germany, so common, indeed, that a technical term "Kirchenschlaf" has been given to this particular kind of nap.

MARCHANTYS wyfe ther was in bowe parysh in london some what stept⁸ in age to who her mayd cam on a fonday in lent after dyner & fayd/ maystres quod she they ryng at seynt Thomas of acres for ther shall be a sermo prechyd anon/ to whom the maystres answerd & sayd mary goddys blyssyng on thy hart for warnyng me therof & because I slept

- 5 fayne] Hazl. mynded.
- 6 Japyd] i. e. mocked.
- 7 at sermon] Hazl. at a sermon.
- 8 stept] Hazl. slepte.
 - on thy hart] Hazl. haue thy harte.

not well all this night I pray the brynge my stole with me for I wyll go thyder to loke wether I can take a nap there whyle the prest is prechyng.

¶ By this ye may fe that many on goth to churche as moche for other thyngys as for deuocyon.

xxviii. Of the woman that seyd & she lyffyd a nother yere she wolde haue a kokoldis hat of her owne.

Too imperfect to decipher in Hazl.

HER was a certayn company of women gatheryd to geder in comunycacion one happenyd thus to say her pyggys after they were farowyd dyed and wolde not lyue and one olde wyfe of her accoyntance heryng her fay fo bad her get a cockoldys Hat and put the pyggys therin a whyle after they were farrowyd and they sholde lyue/ whych wyfe intendyng to do after her counsell came to one of her gossyppys and shewyd her what medecyne was taught her for her pyggys & prayd her to lend her her husbandys hat/ whych answeryd her angerly and sayd I wold ' taught] orig. reads thaugh.

thou knewyst it Drabbe I haue none for my husbande is no cookold for I am a good woman and so lyke wyse euery wyse answeryd her in lyke maner that she departyd frome many of them in anger and skoldynge/ But whan she sawe she coude get none she came agayne to her gossyppys all angerly and sayd I haue gone round aboute to borrow a cookoldys hat and I can get none wherefore yf I lyue another yere I wyll haue one of myn own and be out of my neyghbours daunger.

¶ By this tale a man may lerne that it is more wysdome for a man to trust more to his owne store than to his neyghbours gentylnes.

XXIX. Of the gentylman that wyshyd his toth in the gentylwomans tayle.

GENTYLMAN & a gentylwoman fat togeder talkyn whiche gentylman had gret payn in one of his teth. & hapnyd to say to the gëtylwoman² thus. I wys mastres I haue a toth i my hed which greuyth me very sore wherfore I wold yt were in your tayle. She heryng hym saying so. answeryd thus ² gentylwoman] in orig. gentylwomau.

In good fayth fyr if your toth were in my tale it coud do yt but lytyll good/ but if there be any thynge in my tale that can do your toth good I wold yt were in your toth.

¶ By this ye may fe that a womans answer is feldome to seke.

xxx. Of the welchman that confessyd hym how he had slayn a frere.

N the tyme of lent a welchman cam to be confessyd of hys curat whych in hys cofessyon sayd that he had kyllyd a frere/ to who the curat fayd he coude not affoyle hym/ yet quod the welchma yf thou knewest all thou woldest assoyle me well enough/ & when the curat comandyd hym to shew hym all the case he sayd thus/ mary ther wer ii freres & I might haue slayn them both yf I had lyst but I let one skape therfore master curat set the tone agaynst the tother & then the offence ys not so great but ye may assoyle me well ynough.

¶ By this ye may se that dyuers menne haue so euyll & large coscyens that they thynke yf they do one good dede or refrayne from the doynge¹ of one euyll fynne that yt ys a fatysfaccyon² for other fynnis and offencys.

¹ from the doynge] Hazl. from doynge.

XXXI. Of the welchman that cowde not get but a lytyll male.

HERE was a company of getylmen in northatonshyre whych went to hunte for deere in the porlews in the gollet befyde stony stratford/ Among which gentylmen ther was one which had a walche man to his syruaunte a good archer/whiche when they came to a place where they thought they shold haue game/ they made a stondyng and poyntyd thys welchman to stand by a tre nygh the hye way and bad hym in any wyse to take hede that he shot at no³ raskall⁴ nor medle nat without it were a male & yf it were a male to spare not/wel quod this welchman let me alone. And whan this walchman had stande there a whyle he sawe moche dere comynge/ as well of Auntelere as of Rascall/ but eur he let them go and toke no hede to theym.

a satysfaccyon] Hazl. satysfaccyon.

³ to take hede that he shot at no] Hazl. to shote at no.

⁴ raskall] i. e. lean beaft.

And within an howre after he faw come rydyng in the hye way a man of the countrey which had a boget hangynge at hys fadyll bowe. And whan this walche man had espyed hym he bad hym stand & began to drawe his bow and bad hym deliuer that lyttyll male that hynge at his fadell bowe/ Thys man for fere of hys lyfe was glad to delyuer hym his boget/ & fo dyd & than rode his way & was glad he was fo eskapyd. And whan this man of the countrey was gon thys welchman was very glad & went incontynent to seke his master & at last 1 founde 2 hym with his company/ and wha he fawe hym he come to hym & fayd thus/ Master by cottys plut & her nayle I have stande yonder thys two howrys and I cowd fe neuer a male but a lytell male that a man had hangyng at his fadell bow/ & that I have gotten/ & lo here it is/ and toke his master the boget whych he had taken awey from the forfayd man/ for the whyche dede bothe the master & the servant were afterwarde in great trouble.

¶ By thys ye may lerne yt ys gret foly for a master to put a seruant to that besynes wherof he can nothing skyll³ and wherin he hath nat be vsyd.

¹ at last] Hazl, at the laste. ² founde] in orig. founde. ² fkyll] i. e. know, signify.

xxxII. Of the gentyll woman that sayd to a gentylman ye haue a berde a boue & none benethe.

YONGE gentylman of the age of .xx. yere fome whate dysposyd to myrth and game⁴ on a tyme talkyd with a gentylwoman⁵ which was ryght wyse and also mery, this gentyll woman as she talkyd with hym happenyd to loke vppon hys berde/ whiche was but yong and growen some what vppon the ouer lyppe and but lyttyll growen beneth as all yonge mennys berdys comonly vie to growe sayd to hym thus. Syr ye haue a berde aboue and none beneth, and he herynge her say so/sayd in sporte/ mastres ye haue a berde benethe and none aboue/ mary quod she/ then set the tone agaynst the tother/ which answere made the gentylman so abashyd that he had not one worde to answer.

⁴ game] Hazl, gaye.

⁵ gentylwoman] orig. reads geutylwoman.

⁶ growen some what] Hazl. somewhat growen.

⁷ as all] Hazl. as all other.

⁸ fayd] Hazl. and fayd.

xxxIII. Of the frere that fayd our lord fed .v. M.1

peple with .ij.º fyshys.

HERE was a certayn white frere which was a very glotton and a great nyggyn whyche had an vngracyouse boy that euer folowyd hym and bare hys cloke/ and what for the frerys3 glottony & for his chorlyshnes the boy where he went coude skant get mete inough for the frere wolde eet almoste all hym selfe. But on a tyme the frere made a fermon in the cotrey wherin he touchyde very many myracles whiche cryst dyd afore his passyon amonge whiche he specyalli rehersyde the myracle that cryste dyd in fedynge fyue thousande people wythe fyue louys of brede and with iij lyttell fyshys and thys frerys boy which caryd not gretely for hys mafter herynge hym fay fo and confyderyng that his master was so great a churle and glotton answered with a loude voyce that all the church hard & fayd by my trouth mayster/ Then there were no fryers there. whiche answere made all the people to fall on suche a lawghynge that for shame the frere wente out of the pulpet, and as

¹ v. M.] Hazl. fyue M. ² ij.] Hazl. iii. ³ frerys] in orig. fterys. for the frerys boy he than departed out of the church that the frere neuer faw hym after.

¶ By thys ye may fe that it is honesty for a mã that is at mete to depart with suche as he has to them that be present.

xxxiv. Of the frankelyne that wold have had the frere gon.

• RYCHE fraynklyng dwellyng in the countrey⁵ had a freer vfyng to his howse of whom he coud neuer be ryd

& had taryed with him the space of a senyght a neuer depart wherfore the fraynklyng beyng wery of hym/ on a tyme/ as he his wyse a this frere sat to geder at supper saynyd hym selfe very angry with hys wyse In somoche he sayd he wolde bete her. This frere pseyuyng wel what they met sayd thus. master franklig I haue bene here this seuenyght when ye were sredys a I wyll tary here this fortenyght lenger but I wyll se you frendys agayne or I go. 7 thys man perseyuyng

⁴ A wanting in orig.

in the countrey] Hazl. countie.

^{6 &}amp; neuer depart] Hazl. and wold never depart.

⁷ go] Hazl. depart.

that he coude no good nor wolde not depart by none honest meanys answeryd hi shortly & sayd by god freere but thou shalte abyde here no lenger & toke hym by the shulders & thrust hym out of the dorys by vyolence.1

¶ By this ye may fe that he that wyll lerne no good by example/ nor good maner² to hym shewyd is worthy to be taught with open rebukes.

xxxv. Of the good man that fayd to his wyfe he had yll3 fare.

A parallel story is found in the "Complete London Jester," ed. 1771, p. 73.

FRER Lymytour⁴ come into a pore mannys howse in the countrey and because this pore man thought this frere myght do hym some good he therfore thought to make hym good chere/ But becawfe hys wyfe wolde dreffe hym no good mete for cofte/ he therfor at dyner tyme fayde thus/ By god wyfe by wyolence] Hazl. of the house.

² nor good maner] Hazl. in a maner.

³ yll] Hazl. euyll.

^{*} Lymytour] i. e. begging-friar.

bycawse thou dyddest dresse me no good mete to my dyner/ were it nat for master frere/ thou sholdest haue half a dosyn strypes. Nay sir quod the frere I pray you spare nat for me/ wherwith the wys was angry & thersore at soupper she caused them to fare wors.

¶ By thys ye may fe it is good polycy for gestys yf they wyll haue any good chere to pleas alway the wyse of the howse.⁵

XXXVI. Of the frere that bad hys chylde make a laten.

Too imperfect to decipher in Hazl.

For an analogous account of the results of instruction in Latin, see Bonaventure des Periers, "Les Contes ou les Nouvelles Récréations," &c. Nouv. Ed. par De la Monnaye, tom. i. Nouv. 23, Amsterd. 1735, p. 233: "Du jeune fils qui fit valoir le beau Latin que son Curé lui avoit monstré."

HERE was a frere whiche though he were well lernyd yet he was callyd wycked of condycyons whiche had a Gentylmannys fonne to wayte vpon hym and to teche hym to speke latyn.

⁵ The moral is wanting in Hazl.

Thys frere came to thys chyldes fader dwellyng in he contrey/ and becawse this frere wold haue this Gentylman to knowe that this chylde had metly well spent his tyme for the whyle he had bene with hym/ he bad this chyld to make in latyn shortly Freres walke in the cloyster. This chylde halse astonyed bycawse his master bad hym make this latyn so shortly answered at all aduentures and sayd In circuitu impii ambulant.

XXXVII. Of the gentylman that askyd the frere for his beuer.

N the terme tyme a good old gentylman beyng a lawyer cam to london to the terme & as he came he hapened to ouertake a frere which was som vnthryst & wet alone without his beuer wherfor this getylman asked this frere where was his beuer that shold kepe hym copany and sayd it was contrary to his relygyon to go alone/ and it wolde cawse people to suppose hym to be som apostata or some vnthryst. By god syr quod the frere my selow comendeth hym vnto your mastershyp/ why wet we we will be some and the suppose to suppose the suppose th quod the gentylman I knowe hym nat/ than quod the frere to the gentylman ye are the more to blame to aske for hym.

¹ fpent] orig. reads speut. ² was] in orig. waa. ³ why] in orig. who.

¶ By this tale ye may se that he that geueth cousel to an vnthryst⁵ and techeth hym his dutye shall haue oftentymes but a mocke for his labour.

XXXVIII. Of the .iii.6 men that chase the womā.

The allotment of the two parts of a woman occurs in an old German poem, "Die Theilung." See Von der Hagen, "Gesammtabenteuer," vol. i. Stuttg. & Tübing. 1850, No. 18:—

"1475. Hêre wie habt ir iuch bedâht?
ist iuwer wille volbrâht, Welch teil ir nemen welt?"
mit züchten antwurt' ir dir helt:
"so wil ich, vrouw', an dirre stunt 1480 iu die rede tuon kunt, Und will es lenger niht verdagen, ich wil es ûf genâde sagen:
Das oberste teil sol wesen mîn." &c.

Also in Don Juan Manuel, "El Conde Lucanor," No. 41, where the vice (el mal) leaves the upper half of a servant girl to the virtue (el bien) and keeps the lower part for herself. Imitated in one of G. E. Lessing's poetical tales, "Die Theilung;" see Schriften, Berlin, 1838, vol. i. p. 210; also in "Lyrum Carum," 256.

⁴ to blame] Hazl. fole.

⁵ an wnthryft] Hazl. any vnthryft.

⁶ iii.] Hazl. thre.

HRE gentylmë cam into an Inne where a fayre woman was tapster wherfor as these thre sat ther makyng mery echone of the kyssed her & made good pastyme & plesure. howbeit one spake meryly & sayd I can not fe how this gentylwoman is able to make pastyme & pleasure to vs all thre excepte that she were departed in thre partes. By my trouthe quod one of theym/ yf that she myght be so departed? than I wolde chose for my parte her hed and her fayre face that I myght alway kysse her. Then quod the secod I wold have the brest and hart for ther lyeth her loue. Then quod the thyrd then ther is nothyng lefet for me but the loynys buttokkys & leggys & I3 am content to haue yt for my part. And when these gëtylmen had passyd the tyme ther by the space of one hour or ij they toke ther leue & were goynge away but or they went the thyrd man that had chosen the bely & the buttokkys dyd kys the ^{&#}x27; echone] Hazl. eche.

² be so departed] Hazl. be departed.

³ & I] Hazl. I.

⁴ they] orig. reads thye.

tapyster & bad her farewel. what quod the furst mã that had chosen the face & the mouth why dost thou so/ thou dost me wronge to kys my parte that I have chosen of her. O quod the other I pray the be not angry for I wolbe 5 cotent that thou shalt kys my part for it.

XXXIX. Of the getylma that taught his cooke the medesyne for the tothake.

N Effex there dwellyd a mery gentylman which had a cooke callyd Thomas that was gretly dyseasyd with the toth ake & complained to his mayster there of whiche favd he had a boke of medycis & fayd he wold loke vp his boke to fe whether he cowd fynde any medecyn ther 6 for it & so sende one of hys doughters to his study for his boke and incontynent lokyd vppon yt a longe season & than fayde thus to hys coke. Thomas quod he here is a medefyne for thy? tothake & yt ys a charme but it wyll do you no good except ye knele on your knee8 and aske yt for seynt charyte. Thys

⁵ I wolbe] Hazl. I am.

⁶ ther] Hazl. therin.

⁷ thy] Hazl. your.

⁸ knee | Hazl. knees.

man glad to be releasyd of hys payne knelyd & sayd mayster for seit charyte let me haue that medecyne. Then quod thys gentylman knele on your knees & say after me which knelyd doue and sayd after hym as he bad hym.

Thys getylman began & fayd thus. The fone on the fonday. The fone on the fonday quod thomas. The mone on the monday. The mone on the monday. the trynyte on the tewfday. the trinyte on the tewsday. The wite of the wednysday the wit on the wednysday. The holy holy thursday. The holy holy thursday. And all that fast on fryday, and al that fast on fryday. Shite in thy mouthe on saterday. This Thomas coke herynge his mayster thus mokkynge hym in an anger 1 ftart vp & fayd/ by goddys body mokkyng churle I wyll neuer do the feruyce more. And wente forth to hys chaber to get hys gere to geder to thentent to gon thens by & by. But what for the anger that he toke with hys mafter for the moke that he gaue hym & what for labour that he toke to geder hys gere so shortly to geder the payne of the tothake wente from hym incontynent that his master com to hym & made hym tary styll? & tolde hym that hys charme in an anger] Hazl. in anger.

² tary styll] Hazl. to tarry styll.

was the cause of the ease of the payn of his tothake.3

¶ By this tale ye may fe that anger oftymys puttyth away bodely payne.4

XL. Of the getylmä that promysyd the scoler of Oxford a sarcenet typet.

Similar tales in Legrand d'Aussy, fabliaux: "Les trois Aveugles de Compiègne," tom. iii. p. 1; Pellbartus, "Pomerium quadragesimale," Aug. Vind. 1502, fol. i. sermo 38 c. Benecke, "Beitraege zur Kenntnis der altdeutschen Sprache und Literatur, Bd. 2, Gottingen, 1832: "Der Pfaffe Amis," V. 2043-2472; Sozzini, Nov. 1; Franco Sacchetti, No. 140; Giov. Franc. Straparola, "XIII. Piacevoli Notti," No. 13, fav. 2. Also in "Nouveaux Contes à rire," Cologne, 1702: "Le Rotisseur Filouté," p. 261; and in "Scoggin's Jests," 1626: "How Scogin deceived the Draper," repr. 1864, p. 137.

SCOLER of Oxford lately made mafter of arte come to the cyte5 of lodon & in polys met with the fayd mery getylma of effex which was euer dysposyd to playe many bodely payne] Hazl. the bodely payne.

3 his tothake | Hazl. the tothake.

5 come to the cyte] Hazl. cam in to the cyte.

mery paieantys with whome before he had bene of famylier accountance and prayd hym to geue hym a fercenet typet. This gentylman more lyberall of promys than of gyft grantyd hym he sholde haue one yf he wolde come to his lodgynge to the figne of the bulle without byshops gate in the next mornynge at vi of the cloke. Thys scoler thanked hym & for that nyght departed to hys lodgynge in flete strete/ & in the mornynge erely as he poynted cam to hym to the fygne of the bull/ Anon as1 this gentylman faw hym he bad hym go with hym in to the Cite & he sholde be fped anone/ which incontynent went togeder tyll they² cam in to feynt laurence churche³ in the Jury wher the gentylman espyed a prest raueshyd to masse & tolde the scoler that yonder is the preste that hathe the typet for you & bade hym knele down in the pewe & he wolde4 fpeke to hym for it/ And incontynent this gentilman went to the prest and sayd Syr here is a scoler and kynsman of myne greatly dyseased with the chyncowgh.5 I pray yow when masse ys done gyue hym iij draughtys of your chales. The prest ^{&#}x27; Anon as] Hazl. And as.

² they] in orig. she; Hazl. he.

³ churche] in orig. churhe.

^{*} wolde] Hazl. shold.

⁵ chyncowgh] i.e. hooping-cough.

grauted hym & turned hym to the scoler and fayd Syr I shall serue you as son as I haue sayd masse. the scoler the tarved styl & hard the masse trustig then whan6 the masse was done that the preste wolde geue hym his typet of sarcenet. Thys gentylman in the meane whyle departed out of the churche. This prest whan masse was don put wyne in the chalice & cam to the scoler knelyng in the pew profferyng hym to drink of the chales. this fcoler lokyd vpon hym & mufed & fayd/ master person? wherfore profer ye me the chalyce mary quod the preste for the gentylman tolde me ye were dysefyd with the chicough & prayd me therfore that for a medcyn ye myght drynk of the chalis. Nay by feynt mary quod the skolar he promysyd me ye sholdd delyuer me a typet of sercenet. Nay sayde the preste he spake to me of no typet/ but he defyryd me to gyue you drynk of the chales for the chyncough. By goddys body quod the scoler he is as he was euer wont to be but a mockyng wrech/ & euer I lyue I shall quyte it hym & so departed out of the churche i gret ager.

¶ By thys tale ye may perceyue it were no wysdom for a man to trust to a man to do a thynge that ys contrary to hys olde accustumyd condycyons.

⁶ then whan | Hazl. that whan.

⁷ master person] Hazl. why, master parson.

XLI. Of master skelton that brought the byshop of Norwich .ii. fesantys.

The same story, with very little alteration, in "Certain Merrie Tales of Skelton, Poet Laureat," 1567. See Skelton's Works, ed. A. Dyce, London, 1843, p. liii; compare "Scoggin's Jests:" "How Scogin was new christened, and confirmed a Knave by the French bishop," repr. 1864, p. 130.

T fortuned ther was a gret varyauce betwen the bysshop of Norwhich & one mayster Skelton a poyet lauriat. In fo moch that the bysshope comaunded hym that he sholde nat come in at hys gatys. This master skelton dyd absent hym selfe for a longe season but at the last he thought to do his duty to hym and studyed wayes how he myght obtayn the byshopys fauour and determynyd him selfe that he wold com to hi with some present & humble hym selfe to the byshop & gat a couple of sesants and cam to the byshoppys place & requyryd the porter he myght come in to speke wyth my lorde.

' in at hys gatys] Hal. in his gatys.

this porter knowyng hys lordys pleasure wolde not fuffer hym to come in at the gatys/ wherfore this master skelton went on the bak syde to seke fome other way to com in to the place. But the place was motid that he cowd se no waye to come ouer except in one place where there lay a longe tre ouer the motte in maner of a brydg that was fallyn downe with wynd wherfore this master skelton went a long vppon the tre to com ouer & when he was almost ouer hys fote slyppid for lake of fure fotyng & fell in to the motte vp to the myddyl but at the last he recoueryd hym selfe & aswel as he coud dryed hym selfe agayn/ & fodenly cam to the byshop beyng in his hall then lately rysen from dyner which when he saw skelton comig fodely fayd to hym why thow chatyfe I warnyd the thow sholdys neuer come yn at my gatys & chargyd my porter to kepe the owt.

Forfoth my lorde quod skelton though ye gaue suche charge & though your gatys be neuer so suerly kept/ yet it is no more possible to kepe me owt of your dorys than to kepe out crowes or pyes for I cae not in at your gatys. but I came ouer the motte that I haue bene almost drownyd for my labour & shewd hys clothys how euyll he was arayed which causyd many that stode thereby to laugh a pace. Then quod skelton yf it lyke your lordeshyp I haue brought yow a dysshe to your supper a cople of Fesantys. Nay quod the byshop I defy the and thy Fesantys also And wreche as thou art pyke the out of my howse for I wyll none of thy gyft. How be it with as humble wordys as he coud this skelton defyryd the byshop to be hys good lorde & to take his lytyll gyft of hym/ But the byshop callyd hym dawe1 & fole often tymys & in no wyfe wolde receyue that gyft. This Skelton than confyderyng that the byshop callyd hym fole so oft fayd to one of his famyliers therby that though it were euyl to be criftynyd a fole yet it was moche worse to be confyrmyd a fole of suche a byshop for the name of confyrmacyo must nedes abyde/ therfore he ymagynyd how he might auoyd that cofyrmacio & musyd a whyl & at the last sayd to the byshop thus. if your lordshyp knew the namys of these fesatys ye wold be cotet to take them/ why caytyf quod the byshop hastely & angerly what be theyre namys. I wys my lorde quod skelton this Fesant is callyd alpha. ys. primus2 the furst. & this is callyd O that ys nouissimus the last. & for the more playn vnderstandyng of my mide. If it plese your lordshyp to take them I pmyse you This Alpha is the fyrst that euer I gaue you & this O is the last that euer I wyl gyue you wyl I leue. at the which³ afwer al that wer by made gret laghter & al they defyryd the byshop to be good lord to hi for hys mery conceytys at whose request or they went the byshop was cotent to take hym vnto his fauour agayn.

¹ dawe] i. e. fool.

² ys. primus] Hazl. which is in primys.

¶ By thys ye my fe that mery conceytes dothe a man moche more good than to frete hym felfe with anger and melancoly.

XLII Of the yeman of gard that fayd he wold bete the carter.

YOMAN of the kynges gard dwellyng in a vyllage befyde london had a very fayre yonge wyfe. To whom a cart of the towne a tal felowe reforted & lay with her dyuers tymes whan her husband was from home/6 & fo⁷ openly knowe that all the town spake therof/ wherfor ther was a yong man of the towne well accounted with this yema of gard that tolde hym

³ the which] Hazl. which.

⁴ whose] Hazl. which.

⁵ fauour] orig. reads fauonr.

⁶ was from home] Hazl. was on garde.

^{7 &}amp; fol Hazl, and this was fo.

that suche a carter had layne by his wyfe. To whome thys yeman of garde fayd & fware by godys body that yf1 he met hym2 it shold cost hym his lyfe. Mary quod the yong man yf ye go streyght euyn now the hye way ye shall ouertak hym dryuig of a cart's ladyn with hay toward london wherfore this yeman of garde4 incontynent rode after this carter/ & within short space ouertoke hym & knew hym well ynough/ & incotynent called the cart to hym & fayd thus. Sirra I vnderstand that thou dost ly euery night with my wyfe when I am from home. This carter beyng no thyng afrayd of the other/5 answered ye mary what than/ what than quod they eman of garde/ by goddes hart haddest thou na tolde me the trouth I wolde haue broken thy hede. And fo the yeman of garde retourned and no hurte done nor stroke stryken nor profered.

¶ By thys ye may se that the greatest crakers somtyme whan it cometh to the profe⁷ be most cowardys.

- that yf] Hazl. if.
- 2 met hym] Hazl. mette with hym.
- 3 of a cart | Hazl. a cart.
- 4 of garde] Hazl. of the garde.
- of the other | Hazl. of him.
- 6 trouth] Hazl. truth.
- ⁷ profe] orig. reads profe.

XLIII. Of the pryst that sayd our lady was not so curyous a woman.

N the towne of Bottelley dwelled a mylner whiche had a good homely wench to his doughter whom a curat⁸ of the next towne louyd/ and as the fame went had her at his plefure.

But on a tyme this curat preched of these curyous wyues now a dayes/ & whether it were for the nones⁹ or whether it come out at all aduenturys he hapned¹⁰ to say thus in his sermõ.

Ye wyues ye be so curious in all your warkes that ye wote nat what ye mene/ but ye shold solowe our lady. For our lady was nothynge so curyous as ye be/ but she was a good homely wenche lyke the mylners doughter of bottellay. At which saying all the paryshons made gret laughynge/ & specyally they that knewe that he had loued 11 the same 12 wenche.

¶ By thys ye may se it is great foly for a man that is suspected with any parson to prayse or of for the nones] i.e. for the purpose.

^{*} a curat] Hazl. the curate.

¹⁰ hapned] Hazl. had penyd.

[&]quot; he had loued] Hazl. he louyd.

¹² the [ame] Hazl. that fame.

to name the same parson openly lest it bryng hym forther in sclaunder.

XLIV. Of the fole that wold go to the deuyll.1

This tale is taken from Joh. de Bromyard, "Summa Prædicantium," Litt. P, xii. § 39: "De quodam domino, qui fatuum suum infirmum frequenter cum per illum tranfiret, confortari solebat. dicendo: Spera in deo: ibis ad cœlum. Cui ille semper respondit: nolo illuc ire: a quo cum uno die quereret: quare nollet illuc ire. Respondit: quia volo ire ad infernum, quare inquit: quia inquit. diligo te: & sicut fui tecum in vita, ita volo tecum esse in morte. & post mortem: & quia tu ibis ad infernum: ita volo ego ratione societatis. Cui dominus. quomodo scis. quod ego illud vadam: quia inquit. tota patria loquitur sic. dicentes. quod tu es pessimus homo, et ideo ibis ad infernum: Et in veritate: qui malus homo fuit prius, ex verbis illius compunctus: optime se postea correxit." Repeated in Pauli, "Schimpff und Ernst," Strasb. 1535, No. 43: "Von einem Narren der nit zu Gott faren wolt."

FOLE there was that dwellyd with a getylma i the contray whiche was callyd a great tyraunt and an ectorcyoner. But this fole louyd his master meruelously because he cherysyd hym so well. It

¹ Hazl. Of the fole that saide he had leuer go to hell than to heuen.

happenyd vppon a seasone one of the gentylmans seruauntys sayde to the sole. as they talkyd of sermon matters/ by my trowth Jak quod he wolde to god that thou and I were both of vs in heuyn. Nay by lady quod the sole I wyll not go to heuyn for I had leuer go to hell/ than the other askyd hym why he had leuer go to hell. By my trouth quod the sole for I wyll go with my master & I am sure my master shall go to hell/ For euery man seyth he shall go the deuyll in hell therefore I wyll go thyther with hym.

XLV. Of the plowmannys sonne that sayd he saw one make² a Gose to kreke sweetly.

HERE was a certayn ploughmannys fonne of the contrey of the age of e.xvi. yeres that neuer come moche among company but alwey wet to plough and husbandry/ on a tyme this yong lad wet to a weddynge with hys fader where he see one lute vppon a lute. And when he came home agayne³ at nyght his moder askyd hym what sport he hade at weddynge. This lad answeryd and sayd by my trouth moder quod he ther was one that brought in a gose betwene hys armys 1 and tykled her so vppo the nek that she crekyd the swetlyest that euer I hard gose creke in my lyfe.

² make] Hazl. to make. ³ home agayne] Hazl. home.

XLVI. Of the maydys answere that was with chylde.

N² a marchauntys house in london there was a mayd whiche was gotten³ with chylde to whome the mastres of the house came & chargyd4 her to tell her who was the fader of the chylde. To whome the mayden answeryd forsoth no body/ why quod the maystres yt ys not possible but some mane muste be5 the fader thereof. To whome the mayd sayd/6 why mastres why may not I7 haue a chylde without a man aswell as a hen to lay8 eggys wythout a cok.

¶ Here ye may se it is harde to synde a woman wythout an excuse.

- brought in a gose betwene hys armys] Hazl. brought a gose in his armes.
 - ² In] Hazl. At.

 ³ gotten] Hazl. great.

 ⁴ & chargyd | Hazl. and that commanded.
 - 5 muste be] Hazl. is. 6 sayd] Hazl. answered.
 - 7 not I] Hazl. I not.
 - * a hen to lay] Hazl. hennys lay.

XLVII. Of the servant that rymyd with hys master.

In John Pet. de Memel, ed. 1695, No. 62, the same story occurs; the German verses are the more drastic, as the servant's answer has no rhyme:—

Ich heisse Sylvester
Und schlaf bei deiner Schwester.
Der knecht antwortete:
Junker ich heiss Hans,
Und schlaf bei Eurer Frau.

GENTYLMAN there was dwellynge nygh kyngston vppon Temys. rydynge⁹ in the contrey wyth hys seruaunte which was not the most quyckyst felow But rode alway sadly by hys mayster and hade very few wordys. Hys mayster sayde to hym John quod he why rydyst so sadly 10 I wold haue the tell me som mery talys to passe 11 the tyme with. by my trouth master quod he I can tell no talys/ why quod the master 12 cast 13 not syng. no by my trouth quod hys seruaunt 14 I cowd neuer syng in [&]quot; rydynge] Hazl. and rydynge.

¹⁰ fo fadly] Hazl. thou so sadly.

[&]quot; passe] Hazl. beguyle.

¹² why quod the master] Hazl. Then sayd his mayster.

¹¹ canst Hazl. canst thou.

¹⁴ quod his seruaunt | Hazl. quod he.

all my lyfe/ why quod the master¹ canst thou ryme than/² By my trouth master² quod he I can not tell but yf ye wyll begynne to ryme I wyll folow as well as I can. by my trouthe quod the master that is well sayd⁴ than⁵ I wyll begyn to make a ryme let me se howe well thou canst folowe/ so the master musyd a whyle⁵ and than began to ryme thus. Many mennys swannes swymmys in temmys and so do myne.

Then quod the servaunt. And manny men lye7 by other mennys wyues and so do I by thyne/what dost horson8 quod the master/ by my trouth master nothynge quod he but make vp the ryme. but quod the master I charge the tell me why thou sayst so/ forsothe master quod he for nothynge in the worlde but to make vp your ryme. Then quod the master yf thou do it9 for nothyng ellys why quod the master] Hazl. quod the mayster.

² ryme than] Hazl. ryme.

³ By my trouth master . . . I cannot tell] Hazl. No by my trouthe . . . I can not.

⁴ well sayd] Hazl. well.

⁵ fayd than Hazl. therfore.

⁶ so the master musyd a whyle] Hazl. thy master meanewhyle.

⁷ And manny men lye] Hazl. And many a man lyeth.

^{*} horson Hazl. thou, horeson.

o do it] Hazl. doift.

I am content/10 So the master forgaue hym his sayinge all though he had sayd trewth.11

XLVIII. Of the welchman that delyueryd the letter to the ape.

The origin of this tale is again Joh. de Bromyard, "Summa prædicantium," Litt. J. viii. § 6: "Quidam aulam cuiusdam nobilis intrans: vidensque symiam de secta filiorum vestitum: quia dorsum ad eum habebat: filium credidit esse domini: cui cum reverentia qua debuit loqueretur: inuenit esse symiam super eum chachinantem: cui ille malediceris inquit: credidi quod suisses iankyn silius domini mei." Reprinted in Th. Wright, "Latin Stories," &c. Lond. 1842, No. 129, "Filius domini." Imitated in "Jack of Dover," 1604; "The foole of Hampshire;" "Percy Society," vol. iii. p. 30. It. in "Lyrum Carum," 141.

KNYGHTE in Myddylsex had a seruaunt which had commytted a selony wheros he was endyted/ and because the terme drew nye he fered he sholde be shortly arayned therof & in ieoperdye of his lyfe. wherfor in all the haste sent a letter by a walchma a seruaunt of hys vnto the kynges Justyce of the ¹⁰ content] orig. reads concent.

¹¹ he had fayd trewth] Hazl. he fayd trouthe peraduenture.

kynges bench requyrynge hym to owe his lawfull fauour to hys seruant and comaunded hys seruant shortly to brynge hym an answere/ This walche man came to the chefe Justyce place and at the gate sawe an ape syttynge there in a cote made for hym as they vie to apparel apys for dysport/ This walchman dyd of hys cap & made curtefy to the ape and fayd my master recomendeth hym to my lorde your fader & sendeth hym here a letter. Thys ape toke thys letter and opened it and loked theron/ and after loked vpon the man makyng many mockes and mowes as the properte of apys is to do/ this welchman becawfe he vnderstode hym nat came agayn to his master accordyng to his comaundement and sayde he had delyuered the letter vnto my Lorde chefe Justyces sonne whiche sat at the gate in a furred cote/ Anone his master asked hym what answere he had whiche fayd he gaue hym an answere but it was outher Frenche or Latyn for he vnderstode hym nat/ but fyr quod he ye nede nat to fear for I sawe by his countenance so moche that I warant you he wyll do your errand furely1 to my lorde hys fader. Thys gentylman in truft? therof made none other labour. For lacke wherof hys feruant that had done the felony your errand furely] Hazl. your errand.

 truft] orig. reads truft.

within two dayes³ after was rayned at the kynges benche & cast and afterwarde hangyd.

¶ By this ye may fe that euery wyse man ought to take hede that he sende no folysshe seruant vpon a hasty message that is a mater of weyght.

XLIX. Of hym that fold ryght nought.

Such difficult tasks or enigmatical questions are of very frequent occurrence in the literature of the middle ages. Generally known is the one taken from Justini, "Histor. Philipp." lib. 18, cap. 3; repeated in "El libro de los enxemplos," No. 347; reprinted in "Bibl. de Aut. Españ." tom. 51, Madr. 1860, and in Joh. Gallensis, "Summa collectionum," pars ii. dist. 1, cap. 4. s. l. 1493, fol. In another, first mentioned by Ratherius, (d. 974) "Sermo 3 de octavis paschae," d'Achery, "Spicilegium," ed. 1723, fol. i. 395, (see Haupt, "Zeitschrift f. deutsches Alterthum," vol. viii. p. 21), a man has to come to his prince half riding, half walking, and to bring with him his friend and his enemy; he comes with his right foot in the stirrup, walking with the left, and brings with him his dog as his best friend and his wife (whom he makes denounce him as a murderer) as his worst enemy. This is repeated, with many alterations, in the "Gesta Romanorum," cap. 124; "Altdeutsche Blätter," ed. by Haupt and Hoffmann, Leipzig, 1836, vol. i. pp. 149, 154; "Scala celi," 50; Pauli, "Schimpff und Ernst,"

³ two dayes] Hazl. a month.

1535, No. 400, fol. 75; Hans Sachs, Nürnberg, 1591, fol. vol. ii. p. 4, fol. 59, "Der Hecker mit den drei seltzamen stücken;" Die Schildbürger, cap. 21, in von der Hagen, Narrenbuch, Halle, 1811, p. 129; Ferd. Wolf, "Ueber die neuesten Leistungen der Franzosen für die Herausgabe ihrer National-Heldengedichte," Wien, 1833, p. 135; Cf. Würdtwein, "Diocesis Moguntina in Archidiaconatus distincta," Mannhemii, 1749, tom. i. p. 488, and Loiseleur Deslongchamps, "Fables Indiennes," tom. ii. p. 125; "Cento Novelle Antiche," nov. 100, Torino, 1802, p. 183; and together with many similar jokes in "Salomon and Markolph" (in von der Hagen, Narrenbuch, Finally, Grimm's "Kindermaerchen," p. 236, feq.) Goettingen, 1856, No. 94 (cf. vol. iii. p. 170) contain a similar tale, "Die kluge Bauerntochter;" a girl has to come to the king not clothed, not naked; not riding, not driving; not in the way, not out of the way. She wraps a large fishing-net round her and comes dragged in the rut by a rope tied to the tail of an ass.

CERTAYNE felow there was which proffered a dagger to fell to a felowe of his whiche answered hym and sayde that he had right nought to geue hym therfor. wherfor the other fayd that he shold have his dagger vpon condycyon that he shoulde geue and delyuer vnto hym therfore within vi. dayes after right nought/ or els xl. shilynges in money/ wherto this other was content. Thys bargayn thus agreyd he that sholde delyuer thys ryght nought toke no thought vntyll fuche tyme that the day apoynted drewe nye. At the whiche tyme he began¹ to Immagyne how he myght gyue hym² right nought. And fyrst of all he thought on a feder/a strawe/a pynnes poynte/and suche other. But no thynge coud he deuyse but that it was somwhat/wherfor he come home al sad & pensyse for sorow of lesynge of xl. shyllynges/& coud nouther slepe nor take rest/wherof his wyse beynge agreuyd demauded the cawse of his heuynes/whiche at the last after many denayes tolde her all, well syr quod she let me herewith alone & gete ye surthe a towne/and I shall handle this³ well ynough. This man folowynge his wyues councell went forthe of the towne & let his wyse shyft.

This woman than henge vp an yerthen pot wherof the botom was out vpon the wall by a corde. And whan thys other man come and asked for the good man she sayd that he was nat within/ But Syr quod she I know your erand wel ynough/ For I wote well ye wold haue of myn husbonde xl. shyllynges because he can nat delyuer to you this day right nought/ Therfore syr quod she put your hande into yonder potte and take your money/ this man beyng glad thrust his1 hand in2 supposyng to haue taken xl. shyllynges of money & thrust his hand vp thrugh3 vp to the elbow/ quod the wyfe than Syr what haue ye there. Mary quod he Ryght nought. quod she than haue ye your bargeyn & than my husbond hath contentyd you for his dagger accordynge to his promyfe.

¹ he began] in orig. be began.

² hym] Hazl. this man.

^{*} this] Hazl. this matter.

¶ By this ye may fe that often tymes a womans wyt at an extremyte is moche better than a mannys.

L. Of the frere that told the iii.4 chylders fortunys.

In Joh. Pet. de Memel, "Lustige Gesellschaft," 1695, No. 253, p. 110, a friend gives the following reply to the question of a father about the employment his three sons should undertake: "If the one was a beggar, the other a thief and the third a murderer, they would all be well off for life," meaning thereby the same professions the friar recommends in our tale. It. in Moncaut, "Contes populaires," 50; "Lustigmacher," 2, 50.

HERE was a certayn limytour which went a limytige to a certeyn vyllage wherin dwelled a certayn ryche man of whome he neuer cowde gette the valew of an ^{&#}x27; his] orig. reads hir.

² in Hazl. in it.

³ wp thrugh] Hazl. thoroughe it. 4 .iii.] Hazl. thre.

halfpeny/ yet he thought he wolde go thyder agayn to affay 5 them. And as he went thyderward the wyfe stondynge at the dore perceyuynge him comynge a farre of thought that he wolde come thyder and by & by ran in & bad her chyldren standyng at the dore that yf the frere asked for her say she was nat within. The frere saw her ron in and suspected the cawse and come to the dore and asked for the wyfe/ the shyldren as they were byddyn/fayde that she was not within/ than stode he styl lokyng on the chyldren/ and at the last he called to hym the eldest & bad hym let hym se his hande/ and whan he had fene his hande O Ihefu quod he what fortune for the is ordeyned/ Than called he the seconde sonne to se his hande/ and his hande fene the frere fayde/ O lord what a desteny is for the preparyd. Than loked he in the thyrd fones hand/fuerly quod he thy destenys is hardest of all/ & therwith wente he his way. The wyfe herynge these thynges sodenly ran out and called the frere agayne/ and first made hym to come in/ and after to fyt downe and fet before hym the best mete that she had/ and whan he had well etyn & dronken she besought hym to tell her the destenyes of her chyldren/ which at the last after o is for the Hazl. for the is.

⁵ to affay] Hazl. and affaye.

many denayes tolde her that the fyrst sholde be a beggar. The second a these. The third an homycyd/ whiche she heryng fell downe in a sowne & toke it greuously. The frere conforted her and sayd/ that though these were theyr fortune yet there myghte be remedy had. Than she besought hym of his counsell. Than sayd the frere ye must make the eldest that shalbe a begger a frere. and the second that shalbe a these a man of law/ & the third that shalbe an homycyde/ a phisycyon.

¶ By this 1 ye may lerne that they that wyll come to the speche or Presence of any parson for theyr owne cawse they must fyrst endeuer theyme selfe to shewe suche maters as those parsons moste delyte in.

LI. Of the boy that bare the frere hys mafters money.

CERTAYN frere had a boy that euer was wont to bere this freres money and on a tyme whan the boy was farre behynde his master as they two walked togeder by the way there met a man the frere whiche knewe that the boy bare the frerys money and sayde. How Mayster frere/shall I byd thy boy hye hym apace after the/ Ye quod the Frere Than went ye man to ye boy & fayd fyre thy mayster byddyth ye gyueth me xl. d.2 I wyll not quod the boy then called the man with a hye voyce to ye frere & fayd fyr he fayth he wyll not/ then quod the frere bete hym/ & when the boy herde his mayster say so he gaue the man .xl. pens.

¶ By this ye may fe it is foly for a man to fay ye or nay to a matter except he knowe fuerly what the matter is.

LII. Of Phylyp spencer the bochers man.

(Gerlach), "Eutrapeliarum," lib. ii. No. 58, p. 16, relates a very similar story; the butcher's name is David, and his servant cries out to the friar, "You can have no more meat until you pay your bill." The same in "Roger Bontems en belle Humeur," Cologne, 1731, tom. i. p. 119, "Naïveté d'un Valet:" "Point d'Argent point de Tripes:" and in "Nouveaux Contes à rire et Aventures plaisantes de ce Temps," 3º édit. Cologne, 1702, p. 102: "Sans Argent point de Tripes."

CERTAYN bocher dwellyng in faynt Nicholas fleshamels in london callyd Poule had a seruaut callyd Peter. This masse & one of his felawes whose name was Phylip spencer was sent to call hym at the comaundement of his mayster. So it happened at the tyme that the curat prechyd. And in his fermon touched many auctorytees of the holy scrypture. Amonge all the wordes of the pystell of faynt Poule ad philippenses/ that we be 1 not onely bound to beleue in cryst but also to suffer for crystys sake & sayd these wordes in ye pulpet/ what fayth Poule ad philippenses to this. This yoge man yt was called Philip spencher had went he had spoken of hym answered shortely & sayd/ mary fyr he bad Peter come home & take his parte of a podyng for he sholde go for a calfe anone. The curat heryng this was abashyd & all the audyence made grete laughter.

Peter on a fonday was at ye chirche heryng

2 .xl. d.] Hazl. xl pens.

¶ By this tale² ye may lerne³ that it is no token of a wyse man to gyue a sodayne answere to a questio before that⁴ he knowe suerly what the matter is.

¹ that we be] Hazl. howe be.

² this tale] Hazl. this.

³ lerne] Hazl. se.

⁴ before that] Hazl. before.

LIII. Of the courtear and the carter.

A corresponding tale in "Scoggin's Jests:" "How Scogin told those that mocked him, that hee had a walleye." Reprint. 1864, p. 106.

HER came a courtyer by a carter the whiche in derysyon preysed the carters bak legges and other members of his body meruelously whose gestyng the carter perceyued & sayd he had another property than ye courtyer espyed in hym/ & whan the courtyer had demassided what it sholde be/ he loked asyde ouer his sholder vpon the courtyer & sayd thus/ lo syr this is my properte.

I haue a wall eye in my hed/ for I neuer loke ouer my sholder this wyse but I lyghtly espye a knaue.

¶ By this tale a man maye se that he that vsed to deryde and mocke other folkys/ is somtyme hym selse more deryded & mocked.

LIV. Of the yonge man that prayd his felow to tech hym his pater noster.

In the "Nouveaux Contes à rire," &c. Cologne, 1702, p. 248, "D'un Homme à qui on apprit à prier à Dieu," a corresponding tale occurs; the priest uses a very effective means of teaching the Pater noster to a niggard pawn-broker: he bids him lend money to all the people he should send him. So he first sends a man called "Pater noster," living at a place called "Qui es in cœlis," then another of the name of "Sanctificetur," coming from "Nomen tuum," &c.

YONG mã of ye age of .xx. yere rude & vnlernyd in ye tyme of let ca to his curat to be cofessyd whiche whe he was of his lyfe ferched & examyned coude not fay his Pater noster/ wherfore his cofessour exorted hym to lerne his Pater noster/ & shewed hym what an holy & goodly prayer it was/ & the effect therof/ & the vii petycyons therin coteyned. The fyrst petycyo begynneth. Pater noster. &c. yt is to saye. O fader halowyd be thy name amoge me in erth as amoge augels in heuen. The ii. Adueniat. &c. Let thy kyngdome come & regne thou amonge vs men in erth as amonge augels in heuen. The .iii. Fiat. &c. Make vs to fulfyl thy wyll here in erth as thy augels in heuen. The .iiii. Pane nostru. &c. Gyue vs our dayly sustenauce alwaye & helpe vs as we gyue & helpe2 them yt haue nede of vs. The .v. Dimitte. &c. Forgyue vs our fynnes done to the as we forgyue them y' trespas agaynste vs. The .vi. Et ne nos. Let vs not be ouercome with euyll temptacyo. The .vii. Sed libera. &c. But delyuer vs fro all euyll amen.

¹ confessyd] orig. reads tofessyd.

^{*} gyue & helpe] Hazl. haue and helpe.

And then his confessour after this exposycyo to hym made inioyned hym in penauce to fast every fryday brede & water tyll he had his Pater noster well & suffycyetly lerned. This yonge man mekely acceptyng his penaunce so departed & came home to one of his copanyons & sayd to his felow. So it is that my gostly fader hath gyuen me in penauce to fast every fryday brede & water tyll I can say my Pater noster/ therfore I pray yo teche me my Pater noster/ & by my trouth I shall therfore teche the a songe of Robyn hode that shall be worth .xx. of it.

¶ By this tale ye maye lerne to knowe the effect of the holy prayer of the Pater noster.

LV. Of the frere that prechyd in ryme expownyng the aue maria.

The latter portion of this tale is repeated in "Scoggin's Jests," 1626, Mr. Hazlitt's reprint, p. 76.

^{*} brede & water] Hazl. on brede and water.

CERTAYN frere there was whiche upo our lady day the Annucyacyon made a fermon in the whyte frerys in London/ and began his anteteme¹ this wyse/ Aue maria gracia plena dominus tecü/ &c.

These wordes quod the frere were spoken by the aungel Gabryel to our lady when she co-ceyued Cryst/ whiche is as moche to say in our moder togue as all heyle Mary well thou be ye sone of god is wt the. And further more the augell sayd/ thou shalte conceyue and bere a sone. And thou shalt call his name Jesum/ and Elyzabeth thy swete cosyn/ she shall conceyue the swete saynt John. And so procedyd styll in his Sermon in suche sond ryme that dyuers & many gentylmen of the court that were there bega to smyle & laugh. The frere yt perceyuynge sayd thus Maysters I pray you harke I shall tel you a narracio.

There was ones a yong preest yt was not all the best clark sayd masse & rede a colect thus Deus qui viginti filij tui &c. Where he sholde haue sayd vnigeniti filij tui. &c.

And after whe mas was done there was suche a gentylma as one of you are now yt had herde his masse came to yo preest & sayd thus. Syr I pray you tell me how many sonnys had god almyghty/ quod yo preest why aske you yt. Mary syr quod yo gentylman I suppose he had .xx. sonnys/ for ye sayd ryght now. Deus qui viginti filii tui. The preest perceyuyng how yt he derydyd hym answerde hym shortly & sayd thus. How many sonnys so euer god almyghty had/ I am sure yt thou art none of them for thou skornyst yo worde of god. And soo sayd the frere in the pulpet. No more ar ye none of yo chyldere of god. For ye skorne & laugh/ at me now yt preche to you the worde of god. which wordys made the gentylmen and all the other people laughe moche more that they dyd before.

¹ anteteme] Hazl. antetexte. ² Where] Hazl. wherfore. ³ are] orig. reads at.

¶ By this tale a man may lerne to perceyue well y' the best the wysyst & ye most holyest matter y' is by found pronunciatyon & vtterauce may be marryd/ nor shall not edysye to ye audyece. Therfore euery proces wolde be vtteryd with wordys & cotenauce couenyent to the matter.

Also yet by this tale they that be vnlernyd in ye latyn tongue maye knowe the sentence of the aue maria.

⁴ nor shall not] orig. reads nor shall nor.

⁵ fentence | Hazl. festence.

LVI. Of the curat that prechyd the artycles of the Crede.

The "Miracle-play" alluded to in this story is not contained in the collection of pageants known under the name of "Ludus Coventriæ," (published by the Shakespeare Society: "Ludus Coventriæ; a Collection of Mysteries," edited by J. O. Halliwell, London, 1841), and represented at Coventry on the Feast of Corpus Christi, as the twelve Articles of the Creed are not mentioned in any of them. According to Collier, "The History of the English Dramatic Poetry," vol. ii. Lond. 1831, p. 138, the MS. preferved in the British Museum ("Bibl. Cotton. Vespas." D. viii.) was written at least as early as the reign of Henry VII, and therefore it may well be that at the time the "Hundred Mery Talys" were compiled, or, at any rate, the present tale was written, another series of "Mysteries" was performed at Coventry on that occasion. This supposition is confirmed by a notice from the "MS. Annals, Codex Hales," quoted by Th. Sharp in his "Differtation on the Pageants or Dramatic Mysteries anciently performed at Coventry," Coventry, 1825, 4to. p. 11: "1519-20. New Plays at Corpus Christi Tyde which were greatly commended."

There is, however, another collection of "Mysteries," the "Chester Plays, formerly represented by the trades of Chester at Whitsuntide," (edited as one of the publications of the Shakespeare Society, by Th. Wright, vol. i. Lond. 1843; vol. ii. Lond. 1847,) which has in the play No. 22, "The Emission of the Holy Ghost," (vol. ii. p. 134,) the very verses alluded to in the present tale. As this work is not in everybody's hands I think myself justified in quoting the verses in full:

" Petrus.

I beleeve in God omnipotente, That made heaven and eirth and firmament, With steadfaste harte and trewe intente, And he is my comforte.

Andreas.

And I beleeve more I be lente, In Jesu his sonne from heavensente, Vereye Christe that us hath kente, And is our elders lore.

Jacobus Major.

And I beleeve, with bofte, In Jesu Christe, in mightest moste, Conseveith through the holye ghoste, And borne was of Marye.

Johannes.

And I beleeve, as I cane fee, That under Pilate fuffred he, Skourged and nayled on roode tree, And buryed was his fayer bodye.

Thomas.

And I believe, and fouth can tell, That he ghostly wente to helle: Delivered his that their did dwell, And rose the thirde daie.

Jacobus Minor.

And I believe fully this, That he steyed up to heaven blesse, And on his fathers righte hande is, To raigne for ever and aye.

Philippus.

And I beleeve, with harte steadfaste, That he will come at the laste, And deeme mankinde as he has caste, Bouth the quicke and the dead.

Barthelemewe.

And my beleffe shalbe moste
In vertue of the holye ghoste,
And through his helpe, without boste,
My life I thinke to leade.

Mathieus.

And I beleeve, through Godes grace, Suche beleffe as holye chourch has, That Godes bodye graunted us was To use in forme of bredde.

Symon.

And I beleve with devocion
Of fynne to have remission,
Through Christes bloode and passion,
And heaven, when I am dead.

Jude.

And I beleeve, as all we mon, In the generall refurrexcion Of eiche bodye, when Christe is borne To deme bouth good and evill.

Matheus.

And I beleeve, as all we maye, Everlastinge life after my daye In heaven to have ever and aye, And so overcome the devill." In a third collection, the "Towneley Mysteries," which might possibly have contained corresponding verses, "The Emission of the Holy Ghost" is lost by a lacuna in the MS.

W.

N a vyllage in warwyck shere there was a paryshe preest & thoughe he were no gret clark nor graduat of ye vnyuersyte/ yet he prechyd to his paryshons vpo a fonday/ declaryng to the ye .xii. artycles of the Crede. shewynge them that the fyrst artycle was to beleue in god the fader almyghty maker of heuen & erth. The second. To beleue in Jesu Cryste his onely sone our lorde coequall with ye fader in all thynges perteynyng to ye deyte. The thyrd that he was coceyuyd of the holy gooft Borne of the vyrgyn Mary. The fourth that he fuffred deth vnder ponce pylate/ & that he was crucyfyed dede & beryed. The fyft that he descended to hel & fet? out ye good sowlys yt were in fayth & hope/ & that he3 ye thyrd day rose from deth to lyfe. The syxth he assendyd in to heuen to ye ryht fyde of god ye fader wher he fyttyth. The feuenth yt he shall come at the day of dome to Judge both vs that be qvik & and that he] Hazl. and than.

^{&#}x27; the .xii. artycles] Hazl. xii. artycles.

² fet] i. e. fetched.

them that be dede. The eyght to beleue in the holy goost equall god wt the fader & the sone. The nynth in holy chyrche1 Catholyke & in the holy comunyo of sayntys. The tenth In ye remyssyon of synnes. The leuynth In the resurreccyo generall of ye body and soule. The twelfth In euerlastynge lyfe that god shall reward the that be good. And sayd to his paryshons surther yt these artycles ye be bounde to beleue for they be trew &2 of auctoryte. And yf you beleue not me/ the for a more suerte & suffycyet auctoryte/ go your way to couentre/ and there ye shall3 se them all playd in corpus cristi playe.

¶ By redyng of this tale they y^t vnderstode no latyn may lerne to knowe the .xii. articles of the fayth.

LVII. Of the frere that prechyd the .x. comaundementys.

The division of the Decalogue followed in this tale is taken from Exodus xx; it was adopted by the Council of Trent and used by the whole Latin Church. Luther approved of it, and it is still in use with the entire Lutheran denomination. The division now employed by the Church of England is the same which has always been used by the

¹ holy chyrche] Hazl. the holy churche.

² trew &] Hazl. trewe.

^{*} shall] orig. reads ye ye shall.

Greek Church. It was ftrongly recommended by Calvin in 1536, adopted by Bucer and the Tetrapolitans, and is to be found in any English formulary since 1537... Mr. Hazlitt's conjecture for the lacuna in his edition, p; 82, is: therefore inadmissible; and this is more clearly shown by the fact, that in his interpolation either the seventh or eighth commandment is omitted. To judge from the undamaged passages, however, there must have been some difference between Mr. Hazlitt's original and mine: the text of the mutilated copy cannot have read but thus: The eighth, not to bear false witness against thy neighbour. THE NINTH AND TENTH, not to couete nor defyre no mannes goodes unlefully. Thou shalt not desyre thy neyghbours wyfe, &c., this being exactly the form, which was nearly exclusively used since its acceptation by the Council of Trent Cate-It is likewise found in Maskell's and Bishop Hilsey's Primers.

The seven deadly sins have always been the same, but their division is sometimes different. See Mr. Hazlitt's edition, p. 83, note 2, and Maskell's "Prymer," in "Monum. Ritual. Eccles. Anglic." vol. ii. p. 178, London, 1846.

LIMITOUR of the gray frerys in London whiche prechyd in a certayn vyllage in the countrey in the tyme of his lymitacyő/ & had but one fermő which he had lerned by hart y was of y declaryng of the .x. comaudemetes. The fyrst to beleue in one god/ & to honour hym aboue all thynge. The 4 & had but one fermon] Hazl. and had prechyd a fermon.

5 that was] Hazl. that.

fecod to swere not in vayn by hym nor none other of his creatures. The thyrde to abstayne from worldly operacyo on ye holy day thou & all thy servantys of who thou hast charge. The fourthe to honor thy paretys & helpe the in theyr necessyte. The fyfth to sle no man in dede nor wyll nor for no hatred2 hurte his body nor good name. The fyxt to do no fornycacyo actuall/ nor by no vnlefull thought to defyre no flefhly delectacyo. The seuenth to stele nor depryue no manes goodes by thefte robbery extorcyo/ vsery/ nor dysceyt. The eyght to bere no false wytnesse to hurt another/ nor to tell no lyes/ nor to fay nothyng agaynst trewthe. The nynth to couet nor defyre no manys goodes vnlefull. The tenth to couet nor to defyre3 thy neyghbours wyfe for thyn owne appetyte vnlefully.

And because this frere had preched this sermon so oftyn/ one y' had hard it before told the frerys seruaut y' his mayster was callyd frere John .x. comaudementes wherfor this seruaut shewed ye. frere his mayster therof/ and aduysed hym to preche some sermon of some other matter/ for it greuyd hym to here his mayster so deryded/ & to none other | Hazl. none.

² hatred] Hazl. orig. reads hated.

³ The tenth to couet nor to defyre Hazl. thou shalt not defyre.

be called frere John .x. comaudemetys/ for euery man knoweth what ye wyll fay as foone as euer ye begyn bycause ye haue preched it so oft.

Why than quod ye frere I am fure thou knowest well which be ye .x. comaiidementys yt hast harde the fo oft declaryd/ ye fyr quod the seruaut yt I do. Then quod the frere I praye the reherse the vnto me now. Mary quod ye seruaut these be they.4 Pryde Couetyse Slouth Enuy wrath Glotony and Lechery.

¶ By redynge this tale ye maye lerne to knowe the .x. comaundementes and the .vii. dedely fynnes.

LVIII. Of the wyfe that bad her husband ete the candell furst.

This tale is imitated by John Cotgrave, "Wits Interpreter, the English Parnassus," 1662, p. 282.

HE husbande sayde to his wyfe thus/ wyfe⁵ by this candell I dremed this nyght that I was a cokolde.6 whome she answered and sayd husbonde.

⁴ these be they | Hazl. they be these.

b to hys wyfe thus wyfe, &c.] Hazl. to his wyfe thus 6 a cokolde] Hazl, cocke colde. wyfe, &c.

this brede ye are none. The fayd he/ wyfe etethe brede. She answerd & sayd to her husbande/ then ete you the candell for you sware fyrst.

¶ By this a man may fe that a womans answere is neuer to seke.

LIX. Of the man of lawys sonnys answer.

WOMAN demaŭdyd a questyon of a yong¹ chyld sonne vnto a mã of lawe of what craft his fader was/ which chyld fayd his fader was a crafty man of lawe.

¶ By this tale a man may perceyue that sometyme peraduenture yoge Innocentys speke truely vnduysed.

LX. Of the frere in the pulpit that bad the woman leue her babelyng.

N a certayn parysh chyrche in London after the olde lawdable & accustomyd maner there was a frere mynor all though he were not the best clark nor coude not make the best sermon/ yet by the lycence of the curat he there preched to the paryshons.² Among the whiche audyence there was a wyse at that tyme lytyll dysposyd to contemplacyo talkyd with a gosyp of hers of other seminyne tales/ so loud that the frere hard & somwhat was perturbyd therwith. To whom therfore openly the frere spake & sayd. Thou woman there in the tawny gow/³ hold thy peace & leue thy babelyng thou troblyst the worde of god.

' yong] Hazl. little.

This woman there with sodeynly abashyd bycause ye frere spake to her so openly yt al ye people her beheld answeryd shortly & sayd/ I beshrewe hye hard that babelyd more of vs two. At ye whyche seyng ye people dyd laugh bycause they felt but lytyll fruyte in his sermon.

¶ By this tale a man may lerne to be ware how he openly rebukyth any other & in what audyence lest it tourne⁵ to his owne reprofe.

^{*} parysbons] orig. reads paryshous.

gow] Hazl. gowne.

hye hard Hazl. his harte.

⁵ tourne] Hazl. come.

LXI. Of the welchman that cast the skot in to the see.

N the rayne of the most myghty and vyctoryous Prynce kynge Henry the .viii. cruell warre began betwene Eng-lysshe men Frenshemen/ & Skottys. The Englysshemen were so myghty vpon ye se that none other people of other realmys were able to refyst the/ wherfore they toke many grete enterpryfys/ & many shyppys/ & many prysoners of other remys yt were theyr enmys. Among the which they happenyd on a feafon to take a skottys shyp. & dyuers skottys they slew & toke prysoners. Among whom ther was a welchma that had one of the skottys prysoner & bad hym that he shold do of his harnes/ which to do the Skot was very loth/ howbeyt for fere at ye last he pullyd it of wt an yuyll wyll/ & fayde to ye welchma/ yf thou wilt nedys haue my harnes take it there/ & cast it ouer the bord in to the se. The welchman feyng that fayd. By Cottes blut & her nayll. I shall make her fat it agayn. And toke hym by ye legges & cast hym after ouer the bord in to the fe.

¶ By this tale a man maye lerne yt he that is

1 fat] i. e. fetch.

fubget to another ought to forfake his owne wyll/ & folow his wyll & comaudement yt fo hath fubieccyon ouer hym/ lest it torne to his gretter hurt & damage.

LXII. Of the man that had3 the dome wyfe.

The same story in the "Scolehouse of Women," 1542. Reprinted in (Utterson's) "Select Pieces of Early Popular Poetry," vol. ii. p. 73-74, Lond. 1825.

HERE was a man that maryed a woman whiche hath grete ryches & bewte/ how be it she had suche an impedyment of nature that she was dome and coude not speke/ whiche thynge made hym full ofte to be ryght pësyfye & sad/wherfore vpon a daye as he walkyd alone ryght heuy in hart thynkig vpo his wyse. Ther came one to hym & askyd hym what was the cause of his heuynes/which answeryd that it was onely bycause his wyse was borne dome. To who this other sayd. I shall shewe ye soone a remedy & a medycyn therfore that is thus. Go take an aspen lese & lay it vnder her togue this nyght she beyng a slepe/ & I warrant the yt

² gretter] Hazl. great.

³ had] orig. reads bad.

⁴ full ofte to be] Hazl. to be.

⁵ it] in orig. is.

she shall speke on the morow/whiche man beyng glad of this medycyne preparyd therfore/& gatheryd aspen leues. Wherfore he layd .iii.¹ of them vnder her toge whe she was a slepe. And vpon ye morowe whe he hym self wakyd he defyrous to know how his medycyne wroughte beyng in bed wther demaunded² of her how she dyd/& sodenly she answeryd & sayd. I beshrewe your hart for wakynge me so erly/& so by vertew of yt medycyne she was restored to her speche.

But in coclusyon her speche so incressed day by day & she was so curst of codycyo that every day she braulyd & chyde³ with her husbande so moche yt at ye last he was more vexyd and had moche more troble & dyssease with her shrewed wordes then he had before whan she was dome.

Wherfore as he walked another tyme alone he happened to mete agayne with the same perfon that taught hym the sayde medycyne. And sayde to hym this wyse.

Syr ye taught me a medycyne but late to make my dome wyfe to speke. Byddyng me laye an aspen lese vnder her tonge when she slepte. And I layd iii. aspen leues there, whersor now she

^{1 .}iii.] Hazl. thre.

² demaunded] Hazl. he demaunded.

³ chyde] i. e. made an incessant noise.

⁴ alone] Hazl. abrode.

speketh. But yet she speketh so moche and so shrewdly that I am more wery of her now than I was before when she was dome.

Wherfore I praye you teche me a medycyne to modyfye her that she speke not so moche.

This other answeryd and sayd thus. Syr I am a deuyll of hell. But I am one of them that haue leest power there. Albeyt yet I haue power to make a woman to speke. But yet yf⁵ a woman begyn ones to speke/I nor all the dyuels in helle that haue the most⁶ power be not able to make a woman to be styll/ nor to cause her to leue her spekynge.

¶ By this tale ye may note that a man oftymes defyreth and coueteth to moche⁷ that thynge that oft torneth to his dysplesure.

LXIII. Of the proctor of arches that had the lytell wyfe.

This tale may be taken from Ottomarus Luscinius, "Joci ac Sales mire Festivi," s. l. 1524, 8vo. No. 50, sign. D 3, verso: "Mulier parva minus malum," where it is told of Aristoteles; it was appropriated by Joh. Gastius, "Convivalium Sermonum," lib. i. p. 313, Basil, 1549:

⁶ But yet yf] Hazl. but and if.

⁶ the most Hazl. the more.

⁷ to moche] Hazl. moche.

"De uxore parva," and also by E. Walgemuth, "500 Frische und verguldete Haupt-Pillen," s. l. 1669, ii. No. 30, p. 56. In the "Nouveaux Contes à rire," &c. Cologne, 1702, it is told of Leonidas of Lacedemon, and is likewise contained in the "Complete London Jestes," 1771, p. 65; Certayne Conceyts, 14; Conceits, 81; repr. in Shakesp. "Jest Books," iii. pp. 8, 24. Item, Lyrum Carum, 87; Schreger, 17, 114, p. 567.

NE askyd a proctoure of Arches lately before maryed why he chase hym so lytell a wyse/whiche answerede because he had a text saying thus. Ex duobus malis minus malum est eliendum that is to saye in englyshe. Amonge euyll thynges the lest is to be chosen.

LXIV. Of the .ii.2 nonnys that were shryuyn of one prest.

N the tyme of lente there cam two nonnys to faynt Johns in london bycause of the greate pardon there to be confessive. Of ye whiche nonnys the one was a yonge lady & the other was olde. This yonge lady chose syrft her Confessioure/ and confessive her that she had synned in Lechery. The con-

^{&#}x27; minus malum | Hazl. minus malis.

² the .ii.] Hazl. ii.

fessoure asked wt whom it was. She sayde it was with a lusty Gallät. He demaüdyd where it was. She sayd in a pleasaunt grene herber. He askyd further whe it was. She sayd in ye mery moneth of May. Then sayd ye confessour this wyse. A sayre yong lady/ with a lusty gallant/ in a pleasaunt herber/ in ye mery moneth of May/ ye dyd but your kynde. Now by my trouth god forgyue you & I do.

And so she departed and incotynent the olde none met with her askynge her how she lyked her consessour/ whiche sayde that he was* the best gostly sader yt euer she hadde And the most easyst in penaunce geuynge.

For cofort wherof this other nonne went to the fame confessour. And shroue her lykewyse that she had synned in Lechery. And he demaunded with whom/ which sayde with an olde Frere/ he askyd where. She sayd in her olde cloyster. He askyd what season. She sayd in lent. Then the confessour sayd thus.

An olde hore to lye with an olde frere/ in the olde cloyster/ in the holy tyme⁵ of Lent. By cokkys body yf god forgyue the yet wyll I neuer forgyue the.

³ in the mery] Hazl. and in the mery.

⁴ that he was] Hazl, he was.

in the holy tyme] Hazl. and in the holy tyme.

Whiche wordys causyd her to departe all sad and sore abasshyd.

¶ By this tale men may lerne that a vycyouse acte is more abhomynable in one person than in an other/ in one season than in an other and in one place than in an other.

LXV. Of the esquyer that sholde have bene made knyght.

HEN the most noble and fortunate prynce Edwarde of Englonde made warre in Fraunce with greatte puysfaunce and Armye of People.

Whome the Frenche kynge with a nother grete host incounteryd. And when bothe yo host is shulde Joyne & the trumpettis began to blow/ a yong squyer of englonde rydyng on a lusty courser of whiche horse the noyse of yo trupettys so prykkyd yo courage yo the squyer coude not hym retayne/ so that agaynst his wyll he ran vpon his enemys whiche squyer seynge none other remedy set his spere in the rest/ and rode trough the thykkyst of his enemys/ & in conclusion had good fortune and sauyd hymselfe alyue without hurt/ & the englysh host solowyd & had the vyctory. And after when yo felde was done¹ this kyng Edwarde called the fquyer/& bad hym knele downe for he wolde make hym knyght/ because y¹² he valyauntly was y² man³ y¹ day which with the most couragyouse stomak aduenturyd fyrst vpon theyr enemys. To whom y² squyre thus answerde. Yf it lyke your grace to make any body knyght therfore/I beseche you to make my horse knyght & not me/ for certes it was his dede & not myne/ & full sore agaynst my will.

Whiche answere the kynge herynge refraynyd to promote hym to the order of knyghthode/reputynge hym in maner but a cowarde/* & euer after fauoryd hym the lesse.

¶ By this tale a man may lerne how it is wysdome for one that is in good credence to kepe hym therin/ and in nowyse to dysable hymselfe to moche.

^{&#}x27; done] Hazl. wonne.

² because that] Hazl. because.

³ man] orig. reads men.

⁴ but a co-warde] Hazl. but for a cowarde.

s the lesse] Hazl. the lesse therfore.

LXVI. Of the man that wold have the pot stand there as he wold.1

The same story is related in the "Scole-house of Women," 1542; vide "Select Pieces of Early Popular Poetry," Lond. 1825, vol. ii. p. 77-78, "All though the mete therim were not inough, sodenly commanded her." Mr. Hazlitt considers this passage very corrupt: but the use of the word "ynough" in No. 92 shows, plainly enough, that his supposition is false.

YONGE man late maryed to a wyfe thought it was good polycy to get the maystry of her in the begynnynge.

Cam to her the pot sethynge ouer ye fyre all though the mete therin were not inough sodenly comaundyd her to take the pot from the fyre. whyche answeryd & sayde that ye mete was not redy to etc. And he sayd agayne I wyll haue it taken of for my pleasure. This good woman loth yet to offend hym set ye pot besyde the fyre as he bad. And anone after he comauded her to set the pot behynde the dore/ & she sayd therto agayne ye be not wyse therin. But he precisely sayd it sholde be so as he bad. And she gentylly

¹ Hazl. Of hym that wolde gette the maystrye of his wyfe.

* bad] in orig. had.

agayne did his comaudement. This man yet not satysfyed comaunded her to set the pot a hygh vpon the hen rost/ what quod ye wyf agayne. I trow ye be mad. And he fyersly than comaunded her to set it there or els he sayd she sholde repet. She somewhat aferde to moue his pacience toke a ladder and set it to the roost/ and wet herself vp the ladder and toke the pot in her hande prayeng her husbande than to holde the ladder sast for slydynge/ whiche so dyd.

And whenne the husbande lokyd vp and sawe the Potte stande there on hyght he sayde thus. Lo now standyth the pot there as I wolde haue it This wyse herynge that sodenly pouryd the hote potage on his hed & sayd thus. And now bene the potage there as I wolde haue them,

¶ By this tale men may se it is no wysedome for a man to attempte a meke womas pacyece to far lest it torne to his owne hurte & damage.

^{*} what quod the wyf agayne] Hazl. What! quod the wyfe.

⁴ repent] Hazl. repent it.

^{*} moue] in orig. mone.

on hyght] orig. reads an hyght.

LXVII. Of the penytent that fayd the shepe of god have mercy upon me.

In G. Wickram, "Der Rollwagen," Frankf. 1590, fol. 47, verso: "Von einem einfaeltigen Bawren der da beichtet vnd kundt nicht beten," this story has been amplified: until St. John's Day the penitent says, "the lamb of God have mercy upon me;" afterwards, "the sheep of God;" and later in the year, about the beginning of autumn, "the wether of God." In Kirchhof, "Wendunmuth," Frankf. 1573, i. fol. 255, verso: "Ein Schaefer lehrnet betten," he says, "the wether of God," after the priest has reproved him for saying "the sheep of God." Item in Nass-eddin's "Schwänke," 1857; No. 105, p. 43; cf. No. 115, p. 47.

CERTAYNE confession in the holy tyme of lente iniogned his penitent to fay dayly for his penaunce this prayer.

Agnus dei miserere mei/ whiche was as moche to saye in englyshe as ye Lambe of god haue mercy vpon me. This penitens acceptynge his penauce departyd & that tyme twelse moneth after came agayne to be confessyd of the same cofessoure whiche demaundyd of hym whether he had sulfyllyd his penauce that he hym inioynyd ye last yere. And he sayd thus/ ye syr I thank god I haue sulfylled it/ for I haue sayde thus to daye mornynge and so dayly. The shepe of god haue mercy vpon me. To whom the confessour sayd. Nay I bad yo say Agnus dei miserere mei/that is yo lambe of god haue mercy vpon me.

1 mornynge] Hazl. in the mornynge.

Ye fyr quod ye penytent ye say trouth that was ye laste yere/ but now it is at twelfe month? syth/ & it is a shepe by this tyme. Therfore I must nedys say now ye shepe of god haue mercy vpon me.

¶ By this tale ye may perceyue that yf holy ferypture be expownyd to rude³ Lay people onely in the lytterall scence. Peraduenture it shal do but lytell⁴ good.

LXVIII. ¶ Of the husband that sayd he was John daw.

at twelfe month] Hazl. a twelfemonthe.

³ rude | Hazl. the.

⁴ but lyttel] Hazl. lytell.

daw his paryshon of contrary opynyon layde with his curate for a wager .xl. pence.

Wherupon the parysh preest wyllynge to proue his wager wente to this John dawes house in the euenynge and sodenly gate hym to bed with his wyse where whe he began to be somwhat besy. She selynge his crowne sayde shortly with a loud voyce. By god thou art not John daw. That herynge her husbond answerde. Thou sayst trouth wyse I am here John daw. Therfore mayster person gyue me the money for you haue lost your .xl. pence.

¶ By this tale ye may lerne to perceyue y^t it is no wysdome for a man for y^e couetouse of wynnyng of any wager to put in Jeoperdy a thyng that may torne hym to gretter dysplafure.

LXIX. ¶ Of the skoler of oxford that prouyd by souphestry .ii. chekyns .iii.

In Ottom. Luscinius, "Joci ac Sales, &c." 1524, No. 36, three eggs are proved to be five; see "Certayne Conceyts and Jeasts," 1614, No. 32, in "Shakespeare Jest-Books," iii. p. 14; in Joh. Manlius, "Loci Communes," Basil. 1590, p. 451, three eggs to be six; repeated in Joh. Pet. de Memel, of contrary] Hazl. of the contrary.

"Lustige Gesellschaft," 1695, No. 609. Cammerer, "Fabulæ Æsopicæ," Lips. 1570, p. 384, has a story where two eggs are made fix; in Gerlach, "Eutrapeliarum," lib. i. No. 871, p. 227, (Lips. 1656,) four eggs are made seven. Similar stories in Mart. Montanus, "Gartengesellschaft," Strassb. s. a. 14; in "Scoggin's Jests," 1626, Mr. Hazlitt's reprint, p. 62; and in "Joake upon Joake," 1721. Compare Cénac Moncaut, "Contes Populaires de la Gascogne," Paris, 1861, p. 5; Reinh. Koehler in "Jahrbuch für Romanische und Englische Literatur," ed. by Ebert, vol. v. fasc. 1, p. 4.

RYCH frankelyn in ye contrey hauynge by his wyfe but one chyld and no mo for the grete affeccyon that he had to his fayde chylde founde hym at Oxford to scole by the space of .ii. or .iii. yere. This yonge scoller in a vocacyon tyme for his dysport came home to his fader.

It fortuned afterwarde in 2 a nyght the fader ye moder & the fayde yonge scoller syttynge at supper hauvnge before them no more mete but onely a cople of chykyns the fader fayd this wyfe. Sone so it is that I have spent moch money vpon the to fynde yo to scole/ wherfore I have grete defyre to know what hast lernyd. To whom yo fone answerde & sayde. Fader I haue studyed fouestrye & by that scyence I can proue y' these ² in] Hazl, on.

.ii. chykyns in yo dysh be thre chykyns. Mary fayd yo fader that wolde I fayne se. The scoller toke one of yo chykyns in his hand & sayd. Lo here is one chykyn/ and incotynent he toke both yo chykyns in his hand ioyntly & sayd here is .ii. chykyns and one & .ii. maketh .iii. Ergo here is .iii. chykyns. Then the sader toke one of the chykyns to hymselfe and gaue another to his wyse & sayd thus. Lo I wyll haue one of yo chykyns to my parte/ & thy moder shall haue another & bycause of thy good argument thou shalt haue yo thyrde to thy supper/ for thou getteyst no more mete here at this tyme/ whiche promyse the sader kept & so the scoller went without his supper.

¶ By this tale men may fe that it is grete foly to put one to fcole to lerne any fubtyll scyence whiche hath no naturall wytte.

LXX. ¶ Of the frere that stale the podyng.

The same story is sound in Tarlton's "Jests and News out of Purgatory," 1590, edited by J. O. Halliwell, Lond. 1844, (Shakespeare Society,) p. 82.

FRERE of london there was that on a fondaye mornynge yarly in yo fomer feaso came from Londo to Barnet to make a colacyon/1 & was there an houre before hye masse began/ & bycause he wolde come to ye chyrch honestly/ he went fyrst to an alehouse there to wype his shoys & to make hymself clenely. In the which house there were podyngis to selle/ & dyuers solkys there brekynge theyr saste & etyng podyngys. But ye frere brake his sast in a secrete place in the same house.

This frere foone after came to the chyrch and by lycence of ye curat enteryd in to the pulpet to make a colacyon or fermon. And in his fermon there he rebukyd fore ye maner of them that vfyde to breke theyr fast on the sonday before hye masse & sayd it was called ye dyuyls blak brekfast. And with that worde spekyng as he dyd cast his armys out to make his contenauce there fell a podynge out of his sleue/ which he hymself had stole a lytel before in ye same alehous & when ye people fawe that & specyally they yt brake theyr fast there ye same mornyng & knew wel that yo wyfe had compleyned how she had one of her podynges stolyn/ they laughyd so moche at the frere yt he incotynent went downe of the pulpet3 for shame.

¶ By this tale a man may se that whe a precher

^{&#}x27; colacyon] i. e. homily.

vfyd] Hazl. met.

of the pulpet] Hazl. out of the pulpet.

doth rebuke any fynne or vyce wherin he is knowe openly to be gylty hymfelf/ fuche prechyng shall lytell edyfy to the people.

LXXI. Of the frankelyns son that cam to take orders.

To solve the same problem a wise asks her husband who had been the father of the miller's three sons, whereupon this miller is proved to be the father of Shem, Ham, and Japheth, (Joh. Pet. de Memel, "Lustige Gesellschaft," 1695, 1.) In Gerlach, "Eutrapeliarum," lib. i. No. 665, p. 159, the question is, who was the father of Zebedee's children, and the answer: our neighbour, Master Melcher, the miller; in "Scoggin's Jests," (repr. p. 68,) the scholar says, "Tom Miller of Oseney was Jacob's father." Also in "Die Sutorio Magistrale seltzame Metamorphosis (der Pedantische Jrrthum, &c." Rappersweil, 1673), and in Balthasar Schupp (Wackernagel's "Lesebuch," iii. 795.)

A very similar story can be heard to this day in Germany: A waiter in the Weidenbusch Hotel in Frankfort o. M. proposes the following riddle to a Prussian Lieutenant: "It is not my brother, it is not my sister, and yet it is my mother's child." The lieutenant guesses and guesses, until at last the waiter tells him that it is he himfelf. On the following day the lieutenant puts the same riddle at an evening party. The whole company declares: "That is yourself, Lieutenant!" "No, Ladies and Gentlemen, it is the waiter at the Weidenbusch Hotel."

CERTAYNE skoller ther was intendynge to be made prest¹ whiche had nother grete wytte nor lernyng came to the byshop to take orders/whos folyshnesse yo byshop perceyuyng because he was a ryche manes son wolde not very strongly oppose hym but askyd hym this small questyon. Noe had .iij. sonnes/ Sem/ Cham & Japhet/ now tell me quod the byshop wo was Japhetis father & thou shalt haue orders. Then sayd yo scoler By my trouth my lorde I pray you pardo me. For I neuer lernyd but lyttel of the byshe. Then quod the byshop/ go home & come agayn & soyle me this questyon & thou shalt haue orders.

This scoler so departed & came home to his fader & shewde hym yo cause of the hynderaunce of his orders.

His fader beynge angryat his folyshnes thought to teche hym y folucyon of this questyon by a famylyer example & called his spanyels before hym & sayd thus/ thou knowyst well Coll my dogge hath these iii. whelpys Ryg/ Tryg/ & Tryboll. Must not Coll my dog nedys be Syre to tryboll. Then quod the scoler by god fader ^{&#}x27; prest] Hazl. a preest.

² oppose] in orig. appose.

³ Coll my dog] Hazl, all my dogges.

ye faye trouth let me alone now/ ye shall se me do well ynough ye nexte tyme. wherfore on ye morowe he wente to ye bysshop agayne & fayd he coud foyle his questyon. Then fayd the bysshop Noe had .iii. sonnes Sem Cham & Japhet/ now tell me who was Japhetys fader. Mary fyr quod ye scoler yf it please your lordshyp Col my faders dog.

¶ By this tale a man may lerne that it is but lost tyme to teche a fole any thynge whych hath no wyt to perceyue it.

LXXII. Of the husbandman that lodgyd the frere in hys owne bed.

T fortuned so that a frere late in the euenynge defyred lodgynge of a poore man of the countrey/ the whiche for lake of other lodgynge glad to herborowe the frere lodgyd hym in his owne bed. And after he and his wyfe. The frere beynge a sleepe came and lay in the same bedde.

And in the mornynge after the poore man rose and wente to the marketh leuynge the Frere in ye bedde with his wyfe. And as he went he fmylyd & laughyd to hymfelf/ wherfor his neybours demaunded of hym why he so smyled/ he answerd & sayd I laugh to thynk how shamesast the frere shall be when he waketh/ whom I lest in bedde with my wyse.

¶ By this tale a man may lerne that he that ouershotyth hymself doth folyshly yet he is more fole to shewe it openly.

LXXIII. Of the prest that wold say .ii. gospels for a grote.

A very curious instance of a corruption proving an edition to be a revision of an older text. Mr. Hazlitt reads "shorte space," and there can be no doubt, that our reading, "shottery," is the original and older one, as a village, Shottery, is situated, exactly as our story mentions, not a mile from Stratford-on-Avon (West), between this place and Bordon Hill.

OMTYME there dwellyd a prest in Stretforth vpon auyne of small lernynge whiche vndeuoutly sange masse/

& often tymes twyse on one day. So it happened on a tyme after his secode mas was done in shoterey not a myle from Strethforth there mete with hym dyuers merchaunt men whiche wolde haue harde masse/ & desyryd hym to synge masse and he sholde haue a grote/ whiche answerd them

¹ shoterey] Hazl. shorte space.

& fayd Syrs I wyll fay masse no more this day/ but I wyl fay you ii. gospels for one grote/ & that is dog chepe a masse in ony place in englonde.

¶ By this tale a man may se that they that be rude & vnlernyd regard but lytell the meryt & goodnes of holy prayer.

LXXIV. Of the courtear that dyd cast the frere ouer the bote.

Too imperfect to decypher in Hazl.

COURTYER & a frere happenyd to mete togyder in a fery bote & in comunycacyon betwene them fell at wordys angry & dyspleasyd eche with other/ & fought & strogled togyder/ so that at the last ye courtyer cast the frere ouer the bote/ so was ye frere drowned. The feryma whiche had ben a man of warre the most parte of his lyse before and seynge the frere was so drowned & gon sayd thus to the courtyer/ I bestrewe thy hart thou sholdest haue taryed & foughte with hym a lande for nowe thou hast caused me to lese an halfpeny for my fare.

¶ By this tale a man may fe that he y^t is accostumed in vycyous & cruel company shall lose that noble vertew to haue pyte & compassyon vpon his neyghboure.

LXXV. Of the frere that prechyd what mennys fowlys were.

PRECHER in the pulpet whiche prechyd the worde of god/ & amog other matters spake of mennys soullys & fayd they were so meruelous & so subtyll yt a thousand soullys myght dauce in the space of a nayle of a mannys synger/amonge whiche audyence there was a mery conceyted selowe of small deuocyon that answerde and sayd thus/mayster doctor yf that a thousande soullys may daunce on a mannys nayle I pray you tell then where shall the pyper stande.

¶ By this tale a man may se that it is but foly to shewe or to teche vertew to them that haue no pleasure nor mynde therto.

in the pulpet] Hazl. in pulpet.

² yf that | Hazl. yf.

³ you tell then] Hazl. you than.

LXXVI. Of the husband that cryed ble under the bed.

This tale, the origin of which perhaps may go back to Oriental sources, (see Theodor Benfey, "Pantschatantra," Leipzig, 1859, vol. ii. p. 258,) is taken from the "Cent Nouvelles Nouvelles," nov. 4; it is repeated in Celio Malespini, "Ducento Novelle," nov. 15, and in "Les joyeuses Adventures et nouvelles Récréations," Paris, 1682, p. 35, 5^{to}, devis 9.

N londo there was a certayn artyfycer hauyng a wyf to who a lufty galat made pursute to accomplyshe his plea-fur. This womã denyenge shewde the matter vnto her husbande/ whiche mouyd therwith bad hys wyse to appoynte hym a tyme to come secretly to lye with her all night. And w gret krakys & othes sware y agaynst his coming he wolde be redy harnesyd & wolde put hym in ieopardy of his lyf except he wolde make hym a grete amendys. This nyght was then appoynted at whiche tyme this courtyer came at his howre & entred into the chaumber³ fet⁴ his two handsworde⁵ downe & sayde these wordes. Stand thou there thou sworde the deth of .iii.⁶ men.

^{&#}x27; agaynst hys coming . . . of his lyf except] This passage is apparently corrupt in orig., it reads: agaynst his lyf except coming . . . in jeopardy of his comyng, he wolde, &c.

^{*} then] orig. reads them.

This husbande lyenge vnder ye bed in harnes heryng these wordes lay styl for fere. The courtyer anone gat him to bed with the wyse aboute his prepensyd besynes/ and within an houre or .ii. the husbande beynge wery of lyenge began to remoue hym/ the courtyar that herynge askyd the wyse what thynge that was y' remouyd vnder ye bed/ whiche excusynge ye matter sayde it was a lytell shepe that was wonte dayly to go about the hous & the husbande y' herynge anone cryed ble as it had ben a shepe.

And so in coclusyon when ye courtyer saw his tyme he rose & kyssed the wyse & toke his leue & departyd. And as soone as he was gone the husbande arose/ & when the wyse lokyd on hym somwhat abasshyd she began to make a sad coutenaunce & sayde Alas syr why dyd ye not ryse & play the man as ye sayde ye wolde/ whiche answerde and sayde why dame dydest thou not here hym say that his sworde had ben the dethe

^{*} into the chaumber] Hazl, in at the chamber.

⁴ fet] Hazl. and fet.

b two handfworde] Hazl, two-hande fworde.

^{6 .}iii.] Hazl. thre. 7 .ii.] Hazl. two.

of .iii. men/ & I had ben a fole than yf yt I had put my selfe in ieopardy to haue ben the fourth. Then sayd the wyse thus/ but syr spake not I wysely then when I sayd ye were a shepe/ yes quod ye husbande. But than dyd not I more wysely dame when that I cryed ble.

¶ By this ye may se that he is not wyse that wyll put his confydens to moche vpon these grete crakers whiche oftymes wyll do but lytell when it comyth to the poynt.

LXXVII. Of the shomaker that askyd the colyer what tydyngys in hell.

A corresponding tale in Lyrum Carum, 125.

HERE was a shomaker syttynge in his shop yt sawe a colyer come by thought to deryde hym bycause he was so blake/ askyd² hym what thydynges were in hell³ and how the deuyll fayred. To whome the colyer sayde/ the deuyll fared well⁴ when ^{&#}x27; There was a shomaker] Hazl. A souter.

² askyd] Hazl. and asked.

³ what thydynges were in hell] Hazl. what newes from hell.

⁴ fayde/ the deuyll fared well] Hazl. answered hym he was well.

I fawe hym last for he was rydynge forthe and taryed but for a sowter to pluk on his botis.

¶ By this ye may so that he that vsyth to deryde other folkys is somtyme hymselse more derydyd and mokkyd.

LXXVIII. Of seynt Peter that cryed cause bobe.

FYNDE wryte amonge olde gestys how god made saynte peter porter of heuen/ and that god of his goodnes foone after his passyon suffred many men to come to the kyngdome of heuen with small deseruyng/at whiche tyme there was in heuen a grete company of Welchemen/ whiche with theyre krakynge & babelynge trobelyd all the other. Wherfore god sayd to saynt peter ythe was wery of them/ & that he wolde sayne haue them out of heuen. To whome saynt Peter sayde good lorde I warrant you yt shalbe shortly done/6 wherfore saynt peter went out of heue gatys & cryed wt a loude voyce Cause bobe/ yt is as moche to say as rostyd chese/ whiche thynge ye welchmen heryng ran out of heuyn a great pace. And when saynt Peter sawe them al out he sodenly went in to heuen and lokkyd the dore and so sparryd all the welchmen out.

⁵ fowter] i. e. cobbler.

⁶ shortly done | Hazl. done.

¶ By this ye may se that it is no wysidome for a man to loue or to set his mynde to moche vpon ony delycate or wordly pleasure wherby he shall lose the celestyall & eternall Joye.

LXXIX. Of hym that aduenturyd body & fowle for hys prynce.

WO knyghtes there were whiche went to a stondyng felde wt theyr prynce. But one of them was cofessyd before he went/ but the other wet into the felde w'out shryft or repetauce/ afterward this price wa ye feld & had ye vyctorye yt day/ wherfore he yt was cofessyd came to ye price & askyd an offyce & sayd he had deserved it for he had don good served & aduetured that day as far as ony man in ye felde/ to who the other yt was vncofessyd answeryd and sayd nay by the mas I am more worthy to have a rewarde than he/ for he adventuryd but his body for your sake for he durst not go to ye felde tyl he was cofessyd/ but as for me I dyd iupd both body lyfe & foule for your fake/ for I went to the felde without coffessyon or repentance.

¹ he had deserved] Hazl, that he had deserved.

LXXX. Of the parson that stall the mylners elys.

Too imperfect to decypher in Hazl.

In Reginald Scot, "Discovery of Witchcraft," 1584, London, 1651, 4to. p. 191, the same story is related.

CERTAYN mylner ther was which had dyuers podys of elis wheri was good ftore of elys/ wherfore ye pion of ye town which lokyd like a holy ma dyuers & many timis stale many of the in so moch ythe had left sew or none behind him/wherfore this milner seyng his elis stolyn & wist not by who cam to ye sayd pson & desyrid hym to curse for the ye pson sayd he wolde. & ye next soday ca in to ye pulpet wthook bell & cadell & pceiyng there were none in ye chirche yt vnderstode latyn sayd thus/he yt stale ye milners elis laudate dominum de celis but he yt stale ye grer elis gaudeat ipse in celis/therwt put out ye candell. why syr quod ye mylner no more for this sauce is sharp ynough for hym.

² desyrid] in orig. destrid.

³ why] in orig. who.

¶ By this ye may se that some curatys that loke full holyly be but desemblers & ypocrytis.

LXXXI. Of the welchman that faw one .xl. shyl. better than god.

WELCHMAN on a tyme went to chirche to here mas whiche hapenyd to come in euyn at ye facryng time when he had hard yt mas to ye ende he wet home wher one of his felowes askyd hym whether he had sene god almighty to day which asswerd & sayd nay but I saw one lx. s. better that he.

¶ By this ye maye fe that they be euyll brought vp haue but lytyll devocyon to pray and vertew.¹

LXXXII. Of the frere that sayd dyrige for the hoggys sowle.

A corresponding tale is found in the "Nouveaux Contes à rire," &c. Cologne, 1702, p. 13: "Cochon adroitement volé par des Bohémiens," where a family of thieves steal a hog, kill it, and upon search being made for it, cover it with a cloth and weep as for their father.

¹ The moral is wanting in Hazl.

PON a tyme certayn women in the countrey were appoynted to deryde and mokke a frere a lymytour that vfyd moche to vyfyth them. wherupon one of them a lytyll before that? the frere came kylled an hog & for dysport levd3 it vnder the borde after the maner of a corse and tolde the frere it was her good mã and defyred hym to fay dirige for his foule wherfore the frere and his felaw began Placebo and Dirige and fo forth fayd the feruyse full deuowtly which the wyues so heryng/ coude not refrayne them felfe from lawghynge and wente in to a lytyll parler to lawgh more at theyr plefure. These frerys somwhat suspected the cause and quykly or that ye women were ware lokyd vnder the borde and spyed that it was an hog/ fodenly toke it bytwene them and bare it homeward as fast they myght.4 The women feyng that ran after the frere and cryed come agayn mayster frere come agayne and let it allone/ nay by my fayth quod yo frere he is a broder of oures and therfore he must nedys be buryed in our cloyster/ and so the frerys gate the hog.

² before that] Hazl. before.

³ leyd] in orig. feyd.

as fast they myght] Hazl. as fast as they might.

¶ By this ye may se that they that vse to deryde and mok other fomtyme it tornyth to theyr one losse and damage.

LXXXIII. Of the parson that sayd masse of requie for Cryftys fowle.

This tate is taken from Henr. Bebelii, "Facetize, Opuscula," s. l. & a. 4to. fign. A a 4, "Fabula," (or in Frischlini, "Facet." i. No. 7, p. 37, "De inscitia cuiusdam sacerdotis fabula perfaceta"): "Nesciebat quidam sacerdos satis insulsus, quid esset cantandum in officio diuino die resurrectionis christianæ, misit itaque ædituum ad vicinum sacerdotem, qui cum dixisset, Resurrexi, ædituus literarum ignarus, tantum meminit re, quod sæpius repetiuit, quo audito sacerdos ille simplex et rudis, bene est, dixit requiem cantandum eft, quoniam diem depositionis (vt vocant) Jesu Christi celebrari convenit, nam in triduo mortuus est."

It is repeated in "Der Wegkürzer, das dritte theil des Rollwagens," &c. Frankf. 1590, fol. 15 verso; and in "Scoggin's Jests," 1626, p. 74, (repr. 1864, p. 75,) "How the Priest said Requiem æternam on Easter day."

CERTAYNE prest there was that dwellyd in yo coutery which was not very lernyd. Therfore on Eester euyn he set his boy to ye prest of the next town yt was .ii. myle from thens to know what masse he sholde synge on ye morowe. This boy came to the fayd prest and did his maysters errade to hym. Then quod the prest tel thy mayster that he must fynge to morow of the resurrexyon/ and furthermore quod he yf thou hap to forget it tel thy mayster that it begynneth wt a gret R. and shewed hym the masse booke where it was wryten Refurrexi. &c. This boy than wente home agayne and all the way as he went he clateryd styll. Resurrexi Resurrexi/ but at ye last he hapenyd to forget it clene and whe he came home his mayster askyd hym what masse he sholde fynge on ye morowe. By my troth mayster quod the boy I haue forgoten it/ but he bad me tell you it begã w' a gret .R. By god quod the prest I trowe thou sayest trowth for now I remember well it muste be requiem eternam/ for god almyghty dyed as on yester day? & now we must say masse for his soule.

' very Hazl. very well.

¶ By this ye may se that when one fole sendyth another fole on his errand oftentymes the besynes is folyshly spede.

² as on yester day] Hazl. upon Good Fryday.

³ is folyshly] Hazl. folyhly.

LXXXIV. Of the herdman that fayd ryde apace ye shall haue rayn.

In "Joe Miller's complete Jest Book," London, 1845, No. 425, p. 128, the same story is told of Newton. See "Scoggin's Jests," 1796, p. 47: "How Scogin gave a Cowheard forty shillings to teach him his cunning in the weather." Mr. Hazlitt's reprint, p. 115.

SKOLER of Oxenford whiche had fludyed ye iudycyals of astronomy of a tyme was rydyng by ye way which ca by a herdmã & inquyrid of hym how far it was to ye next town/ fyr quod ye herdmã ye haue notthyder past a myle & ã half/ but fyr quod he ye nede to ryde apace for ye shal haue a shour of rayn er ye coe thyder/ what quod ye skoler ye is not so for here is no token of rayn for all ye cloudys be both fayr & clere/ by god syr quod ye herd mã but ye shall fynd it so. The skoler then rode forth his way & or he had ryden half a myle forther there sel a good showre of rayn that the skoler was well wasshyd and wete to ye skyn/ ye skoler then tournyd his horse and rode agayne to the herdman & desyred hym to teche hym that connyng. nay quod ye herdman I wyll for all Hazl. for.

² rode agayne] Hazl. rode.

not teche you my connynge for nought/ that the skoler profferyd hym.xl. shyllyngys to teche hym that connynge/ the herde man after he had receyued his money sayde thus. Syr se you not yoder dun a kow³ with the whyte face/ yes quod the skoler. Suerly quod ye herdma whe she dausyth and holdyth vp her tayle it shal haue a showre of rayne within halse an howre after.

¶ By this ye may see yt the conyng of herdment & shepardes as touchyng alteracyos of weders is more sure than ye iudycyallys of Astronomy.

LXXXV. Of hym that fayd I shall haue nere a peny.

N a certayn town ther was a rych man that lay on his deth bed at poynte of deth whiche chargyd his executours to dele⁵ for his foule a certayn some of money in pence & on this condicyon chargyd them as y^e wolde answere afore God⁶ that euery pore man that came to them & tolde a trewe tale sholde haue a peny & they that sayd a fals ^{*} kow] Hazl. ewe.

⁴ herdmen] orig. reads herdman.

⁵ to dele] i. e. to give.

⁶ afore God] in orig. afore. God thynge sholde haue none/ & in the dole¹ tyme there came one which sayde yt god was a good man/ quod yt executours thou shalt haue a peny for thou sayste trouth. Anone came another & said yt deuyll was a good man/ quod the executours there thou lyest therfore thou shalt haue nere a peny. At last came one to yt executours & sayd thus/ ye shall gyue me nere a peny/ which wordys made the executours amasyd and toke aduysement whether they shold gyue hym the peny or no.

¶ By this ye may se it is wysdome for Juggys in deutefull matters of law to beware of hasty iugement.

LXXXVI. Of the husband that sayd his wyfe and he agreed well.

Too imperfect to decypher in Hazl.

MAN askyd his neybour which was but late maryed to a wydow how he agreyd with his wyfe for he faid y^t her fyrst husbad and she coud neuer agre/ by god quod ye other we agre meruelous wel. I pray the how so/ mary quod ye other I shall tell ye/

¹ dole] i. e. grief.

when I am mery she is mery/ & when I am sad she is sad/ for whe I go out of my doris I am mery to go from her & so is she/ & when I come in agayne I am sad & so is she.

LXXXVII. Of the preest that sayd comede episcope.

From the "Margarita Facetiarum," Argent. 152, fign. O vi.

Another version of this tale is related in "Scoggin's Jests:" How the Priest was complained on for keeping a young wench in his house," (repr. 1864, p. 78.)

N ye tyme of vyfytacyo a bysfhop whiche was fomwhat lecherous & had got many chylderne preparyd to come to a prestes house to se what rule he kept which prest had a lemã in his house called Ede & by her had .ii. or .iii. smale chyldre in short space/ but agayn ye bysshop commyng ye prest preparyd a rome to hyde his lemã & his childre ouer in ye rose of his hall/ & whe ye bysshop was come & set at dyner in ye same hal hauyng .x. of his owne childre about hym this preste which coud speke lytell latyn or none bad the bysshop in latyn to ete saynge Comede episcope. This woma in the rofe of the house herynge the prest fay fo had wente he had callyd her byddynge her com Edee & aswerd shortly & sayd shall I brynge my chylderen w' me also. This bysshop herynge this 1 yxor tua ficut vitis abundans in lateribus domus tue. The preest the half amasyd answervd fhortly² and fayd Filii tui ficut nouelle³ olyuarum in circuitu mense tue.

² to come to a preftes house to se! Hazl. to question a preest.

^{*} the preft] Hazl. he.

¶ By this ye may fe that they that haue but fmall lernynge fomtyme fpeke truely vnaduyfyd.

LXXXVIII. Of the woman that stale the pot.

N ashe wednysday in ye mornynge was a curat of a church whiche had made good chere the nyght afore/ & syttyn vp late & came to ye churche to here cofessyon to whom there came a woman/ and amoge other thyngys she cofessyd her that she had stolyn a pot. But than because of grete watche that this preest had/ he there sodenly felle a slepe/ and whe this woman fawe hym not wyllyng to here her she rose vp4 & wet her way/ & anone an herynge this] Hazl. hering this, fayde in sporte.

² answeryd shortly Hazl. answerd.

^{*} nouelli] orig. reads nouelle.

^{*} rose wp] Hazl. rose.

other woman kneled downe to the same prest & began to say benedicite wherwith this press fodenly wakyd wenynge⁵ she had ben the other woman & sayd al angerly/ what art thou now at benedicite agayne tell me what dydest thou when thou hadyst stolyn the pot.

LXXXIX. Of master whyttyntons dreme.

ONE after one mayster Whyttinto had bylded a colege on a nyght as he slept he dremyd that he sad in his church

& many folkys ther also/ & further he dremyd yt he sawe our lady in the same chyrch wt a glas of goodly oyntement in her hand goynge to one askyng hym what he had done for her sake/ whiche sayd that he had sayd our ladys sauter euery day wherfore she gaue hym a lytyll of the oyle. And anon she went to another askyng hym what he had done for her sake which sayd that he had sayd ii. ladys sauters euery day/ wherfore our lady gaue hym more of ye oytement, than she gaue ye other. This mayster whyttento then thought that when our lady sholde come to hym she wolde gyue hym all the hole glas bycause y' he had bylded such a gret colege & was very glad in his mynd. But whe our lady cam to hym she asked hym what he had suffred for her sake/ which wordys made hym gretly abashyd bycause he had nothyng to say for hym selfe/ & so he dremyd that for all the gret dede of byldyng of ye sayd Colege he had no parte of yt goodly oyntement.

⁵ wakyd wenynge] Hazl. awaked, and wenynge.

⁶ fauter] i. e. Pfalter.

⁷ sbe went] in orig. se went.

¶ By this ye may² fe that to fuffer for goddys fake is more merytoryous than to gyue gret goodys.

xc. Of the prest that kyllyd bys horse callyd modicum.

CERTAYNE bysshop appoynted to go on vysytacyon to a prestys hous³ and bycause he wolde haue the preest do but lytell⁴ cost vpon hym he bad hym dresse⁵ but lytyl mete saying thus in latyn.⁶ Preparas

- ' he dremyd] Hazl. him informed.
- 2 may orig. reads mnay.
- 3 prestys hous] Hazl. preeste's.
- 4 lytell] in orig. lyiell.
- 5 bad hym dreffe] Hazl. told him to prepare.
- 6 thus in latyn] Hazl. thus.

mihi modicũ. This preest which vnderstode hym not halfe wel had a horse called modicũ wherfore he thought to obtayne the bysshops fauour & agaynst yo bysshops comyng kylled his horse that was called modicum wherof the byssop & his seruates ete pt which whe yo bisshop knew afterward was gretly displesid.

¶ By this ye may fe that many a fole doth moche cost which? hath but lytyll thank for his laboure.

XCI. Of the maltman of Colbroke.

Wanting in Hazl.

Similar trickeries are of very frequent occurrence; see f.i. Kirchhof, "Wendunmuth," Frankf. 1573, No. 313-17, fol. 302 verso.

CERTAYNE maltman of colbroke whiche was a very couetous wreche and had no pleasure but onely to get money came to london to fell his malt and broughte with hym .iiii. capons & there refeyuyd .iiii. or .v. li. for malte and put it in a lytell purs tyed to his cote and after wente aboute the strettys to sell his capons whom a pollyng

⁷ which] Hazl. at dyners, whiche.

felowe that was a dycer and an vnthryft had espyed and Imagyned how he myght begyle the man other of his capons or of his money and came to this maltman in the street berynge these capons in his hande and askyd hym how he wolde fell his capons and when he had shewyd hym the pryse of them he bad hym go with hym to his mayster and he wolde shew them to his mayster and he wolde cause hym to have money for them wherto he agreed. This Poller wente to the cardynalls hat in lomberdys strete & when he came to the dore he toke the capons from the maltman and bad hym tary at the dore tyll he had shewed his mayster and he wolde come agayn to hym and brynge hym his money for them. This poller when he had goten the capons wente in to the house and wente thorowe the other bak entre in to Cornhyll and foo toke the capons with hym/ and when this maltman had stond there a good feafon he askid one of the tauerners where the man was that had the Capons to shewe to his mayster/ mary quod the tauerner I can not tell the here is nother mayster nor man in this house for this entre here is a comen hye way and gooth in to cornhyl/ I am fure he is gone a weye with thy capos. This maltman herynge that ran throwe the entre in to cornhyll and askyd for a felowe in a tawny cote that had capons in his hand. But no man coude tell hym whiche waye he was gone and foo the maltman lofte his capons and after wente in to his Inne all heuy and fade and toke his horse to thentent to ryde home. This poller by that tyme had chaungyd hys rayment and borowyd a furryd gowne and came to the maltman fyttynge on horsbak and sayd thus/ good man me thought I harde the inquire euyn now for one in a tawny cote that had stolyn from the .iiii. capos yf thou wylt gyue me a quart of wyne go with me and I shall brynge ye to a place where he fyttyth drynkyng with other felowes & had ye capons in his hande. This maltman beynge glad therof grautyd hym to gyue hym the wyne bycause he semyd to be an honest man/ and went wt hym vnto the dagger in chepe. This poller then fayd to hym go thy way streyght to thend of y' long entre & there thou shalt se whether it be he or no & I wyl holde thy horse here tyll thou come agayn. This maltman thynkyng to fynde the felow with his capos wet in & left his horse with the other at the dore. And as foone as he was gon in to the house this poller lad the horse awaye in to his owne lodgynge. This maltman inqueryd in the house for his selowe with the capons but no man coude tell hym no tydyngys of fuche man/ wherfore he came agayne to yo dore all fad & lokyd for hym y' had his hors to kepe/ & bycause he sawe hym not he askyd dyuers there for hym/ & some sayd they saw hym & some sayde they saw hym not/ but no man coude tell whiche waye he was gone wherfore he wente home to his Inne more sad tha he was before/ wherfore his host gaue hym coucell to get hym home & beware how he trustyd any men in londo. This maltman seynge none other cosort went hys hy way homewarde.

This poller which lyngeryd alway there aboute the Inne hard tell that the maltman was goyng homewarde a fote apparelyd hym lyke a mannys prentyse & gat a lytell boget stuffyd full of stones on his bake & wente before hym to charynge crosse & taryed tyll ye maltman came/ & askyd hym whether he wente whiche fayd to Colbroke. Mary quod ye other I am glad therof for I must goo to braynforde to my mayster to bere hym money which I haue in my boget & I wolde be glad of copany. This maltman bycause of his owne money was glad of his copany/ & so they agreed & wente togyder a whyle. At the last this poller went fomwhat before to knyghtbryge & fat vpon ye brydge & restyd hym with his boget on his bak/ & when he faw ye maltma almost at hym he let his boget fall ouer ye brydge in to ye water. & incontynent start vp & fayd to ye maltman alas

I haue let my boget fal in to ye water & there is .xl. li. of money therin/ yf thou wylt wade in to ye water & go feke it & get it me agayne I shall gyue ye .xii. pence for thy labour/ this maltman hauynge pyte of his losse & also glad to get the .xii. pence plukyd of his hose cote & shyrt & wadyd into ye water to seke for the boget. And in ye mene whyle this poller gote his clothis & cote wher to the purs of money was tyde & lepte ouer the hedge & wente to westmynster.

This maltman within a whyle after with grete payne & depe wadynge founde ye boget & came out of the water & sawe not his felowe there & fawe that his clothys & money were not there as he left them suspected ye mater and opened the boget and than founde nothynge therin but stonys cryed out lyke a mad man and ran all nakyd to london agayne and fayde alas alas helpe or I shall be stolen. For my capons be stolen. My hors is stolen. My money and clothys be stolen and I shall be stolen myself. And so ran aboute the stretys in london nakyd & mad cryenge alway I shall be stole. I shall be stolen. And so contynuyd mad durynge his lyfe & so dyed lyke a wretche to the vtter dystruccyon of hym felf & shame to all his kyn.

¶ By this tale ye may se that many a couetouse wrech y' louyd his good better than god and fettyth his mynde inordynatly theron by the ryghte iugment of god oftymes comyth to a myferable and shamfull ende.

xcii. Of the welchman that stale the englyshmans cok.

WELCHEMAN dwellynge in englonde fortuned to stele an englyssh mans cok & sette it on ye fyre to seth wherfore this englyshman suspectyng ye welchma cam in to his house! & sawe ye cok setyng on ye fyre & sayd to ye welchma thus. Syr this is my cok. Mary quod ye welchma & yf it be thyne ye shalt haue thy parte of it/ nay quod ye englyshma y' is not ynough. By cottes blut & her nayle quod ye welchma yf her be not ynough now her wyll be ynough anone for her hath a good fyre vnder her.

XCIII. Of hym that brought a botell to a prest.

ERTAYNE of ye vycarse of poulys dysposyd to be mery on a sondaye at hye masse tyme sent another mad selowe of the wycars] Hazl. vycars.

¹ in to his house] Hazl. to his house.

of theyr accountauce vnto a folysshe dronken preste to gyue hym a botell/ whiche man met with the preste vpon the top of ye stayrys by ye chaucell dore & spake to hym & sayde thus. Syr my mayster hath send you a botel to put your drynke in bycause ye can3 kepe none in your braynes. This preste therwith beyng very angry all fodenly toke the botell & with his fote flange4 it downe into ye body of the chyrche vpon the gentylmens hedes.

XCIV. Of the endytemet of Thefu of Nazareth.

CERTAYNE Jury in the counte of Myddelsex was inpaneld for ye kynge to inquere of all indytementes murders

& felonyes. The persons of this panel were folyshe couetous & vnlerned/ for who so euer wolde gyue the a grote they wolde assyne & veryfy his byll whether it were true or fals w'out any other profe5 or euidece/ wherfore one yt was a mery coceytyd felowe perceyuyng theyr smale cocyence & grete couetousnes put in a byll intytuled after this maner. Inquiratur pro dño regi s any other profe] Hazl. any profe.

³ ye can] Hazl, he can.

⁴ flange] i. e. project out.

fi Jesus nazarenus furatus est unu asinu ad equitandum in egiptu/& gaue the a grote and desyryd y' it myght be verysyed. The sayd Jury whiche loked all on the grote & nothyng on ye byll as was theyr vse wrote billa vera on ye bak therof which byll when it was presently into ye court whe ye Jugys loked theron they sayd opely before all ye people lo syrs here is ye merueloust verdyt yt euer was presently by any inquest for here they haue indyted Jesu of Nazareth for stellyng of an asse which whe ye people hard it it made the both to laugh & to woder at ye folyshnes & shaful piuri of the of the equeste.

¶ By this ye may se it is grete parell to enpanell any iurorous 2 vpon any equest whiche be folysh & haue but small concyence.

xcv. Of bym that prechyd agaynst theym that rode on the sonday.

The same story is found in Frischlini, "Facetiæ," Lips. 1600 (or 1602), p. 2, De sacerdote jeiunium Quadragesimale desendente: "Quidam ineptus, ne dicam impius Sacerdos, cum jeiunium Quadragesimale et discrimen ciborum desenderet, et pænam omnibus contemptoribus et hæreticis comminatus esset, ad erroris sui patrocinium etiam Christi et Apostolorum exemplo abutebatur. Quid enim, inquit, de Christo et Apostolis eius dicam? qui nescio qua voluptate deliniti, cum paschatis sesto non expestato, die Jouis proxime antecedente, agnum deuorassent, Christus statim altera post die in crucem actus est: Apostolorum vero, qui vna comederant, nemo sicca morte perijt."

^{&#}x27; any] Hazl. an.

² iurorous] orig. reads iurroous.

N a certayn parysh a frere prechyd/ and in his sermon he rebuked them y' rode on y' sonday/ euer lokyng vpon one man yt was botyd & spurryd redy to ryde. This man parceyuyng yt all ye people notyt hym sodenly half in anger answerde ye frere thus/why prechyst thou so moch agaynst them yt ryde on ye soday/ as thou knowyst well it is wryten in holy scrypture. To who ye frere sodely answerd & sayd thus/ but I pray ye what ca therof was he not hagid on ye fryday after/ which herynge all ye people in ye church fell on laughing.

xcvi. Of the one brother that founde a purs.

Repeated in "Joe Miller's Complete Jest Book," London, 1845, No. 671, p. 205; and in Joh. Val. Meidinger, "Pract. Franzæsische Grammatik," 23rd edit. (1818), p. 551. Comp. "Waldis, Æsopus," 4, 4.

HERE was a certayne man that had two fonnys vnlyke of condycyons. For the eldyst was lusty and quyk and vsyd moche to ryfe erly and walke in to the feldys/ than was the yonger flowe and vnlufty and vfyd to lye in bed as longe as he myght. So on a daye the elder as he was wonte rose erly and walkyd in to the feldys and there by fortune he founde a purs of money and brought it home to His fader when he had it wente streyght to his other sone yet lyenge then in his bed & fayd to hym. O thou flogarde quod he feyst thou not thyne elder2 broder how he by his erly ryfyng had found a purs with money whereby we shalby gretely holpen all oure lyfe/ whyle thou fluggynge in thy bed dost3 no good but slepe. He then wyst not what to say but anfweryd shortly and sayd fader quod he yf he that hath loft the purs and money had lyne in his bed that same tyme that he lost it as I do now my broder had founde no purs nor money to daye.

¶ By this ye may fe that they that be accuftomyd in vyce and fyn wyl alway fynd one excufe or other to cloke there with theyr vyce and vnthryftynes.

^{&#}x27; in bed] Hazl. in his bed. 2 elder] Hazl. eldeft.
3 doff] Hazl. doft thou.

XCVII. Of the answere of the masters to the mayd.

CERTAYN wyfe ther was whiche was fomwhat fayre and as all women be yt be ye fayre was fomwhat proude of her bewty/ & as she and her mayd sat togeder she as one that was desyrous to be preysyd sayd to her thus. I fayth Jone how tynkyst thou am I not a fayre wyse/ yes by my trouth maystres quod she ye be the fayrest that euer was except our lady/ why by Cryst quod ye maystres though our lady were good yet she was not so fayre as men speke of.

¶ By this ye may se it is harde to fynde a bewtyouse woman without pryde.

XCVIII. Of a certayn aldermans dedys of london.

Wanting in Hazl.

CERTAYNE alderman of London there was lately dysceased whiche now shall be nameles whiche was very couetouse as well before he was maryed as after/ for when he was bacheler euer when his hosen were broken so that he coude were them no longer for shame then wolde he cutte them of by the knee and putte on a payre of ledder buskyns on his bare leggys whiche wolde laste hym a two or thre yere. Furthermore it was his maner when he was a bacheler euery nyght where that he was to borowe a candels ende to brynge hym home whiche he wolde alway put in a chest that he had at his chamber. So that by that tyme he was maryed/he had a cheste of candels endis that wayd two or thre hondred weyghte.

4 the fayre] Hazl. fayre.

Sone after that he was maryed to a ryche wydowe and than folkys thought he wolde be better than he was before. But so it happenyd that a gentylman gaue hym a pasty of an harte whiche euery day he caused to be sette on the table for feruyce/ how be it he wolde neuer for nygynshyp let it be openyd/ so that it was a moneth or vi. wekys or euer it was touched. At whiche tyme it fortuned a man of his accoynetaunce beynge there often and feynge this pasty neuer to be openyd sayde syr by my trouth I wyll tame your pasty/ whiche openyd ye pasty and incontynent lepte out .iii. or .iiii. myce vpon other gentylmens trechows whiche had crept in at an hole vndernethe the bottam and hadde etyn vp all the mete therin. Also this alderman was of fuche condycyon yt he wolde here .ii. or .iii.

maffys euery daye/ and whan any pore folke came to begge of hym he wolde rebuke them and say that they dyde lette hym in heryng of them so that he wolde neuer gyue peny in almys. And on a tyme as he fat at faynt Thomas of Acres herynge masse he sawe a yonge begynner a dettour of his that owyd hym .xx. li. whiche as fone as he fawe hym he commaunded one of his feruauntes to get a fergyaunt & to arest hym whiche yonge man immedyatly after was arestyd/ and whan he was in the counter he defyred dyuers of his frendys to intrete with this Alderma for dayes of payment whiche men in the mornynge after came to this Alderman knelynge at masse & intretyd hym for this man defyrynge hym to take dayes of paymet whiche answeryd them thus. I praye you troble me not now for I haue harde one maffe all redy & I wyll here an other or I medle with worldly matters. But yf ye haue the money here I wyll take the now or elles I pray you speke to me no more/ and so these men coude get no other answer. And this Alderman kept this yonge man styll in pryson tyll at the laste he there dyed. And so he causyd lykewyse dyuers other to dye in pryson and wolde neuer forgyue them/ wherfore afterward this alderman dyed fodenly wherfore dyuers & many were glad of his deth.

XCIX. Of the northern man that was all hart.

NORTHEN man there was whiche wente to seke hym a seruyce. So it happenyd that he came to a lordys place whiche lord than had war wt another lord. This lord that askyd this northe may fythe durst fyght/ye by goodys byes quod ye northe may I dare for I is al hart. whervoon the lorde retayned hym in to his seruyce. So after it happenyd ythis lorde sholde go fyght with his enmyes wt whom also wet this northe man which shortly was smyte in ye hele wt an arow wherfore he incotynetly fell downe almost dede wherfore one of his felaws sayd art thou he ytart all hart and for so lytyll a stroke in the hele now art almost dede. To whom he answeryd & sayd by goddes sale I is hard hed/leggys/body helys & all/therfore ought not one to fere when he is stryken in ye hart.

c. Of the burnyng of old Johñ.

The fame story is related in Kirchhof, "Wendunmuth," Frankf. 1573, No. 348, fol. 333 werfo, "Von einem hülzern Johannes;" and in C. F. Gellert's "Fabeln," buch iii. "Die Wittwe," Leipzig, 1836, p. 165.

N a certayn towne there was a wyfe fomwhat agyd that had beryed her husband whose name was callyd Johñ/1 whom she loued so tenderly in his lyfe that after his deth she causyd an ymage of tymber to be made in viage and person as lyke to hym as coude be/ whiche ymage all day longe lay vnder her bed and euery nyght she causyd her mayde to wrap it in a shete & lay it in her bed & callyd it olde John. This wyfe also had a pretyse whose name was John/ whiche John wolde fayn haue weddyd his maystres not for no grete pleasur but onely for her good bycause she was rych/ wherfor he imaginyd how he might obtayn his purpose & spake to ye mayde of ye hous & desyryd her to lay hym in his maystres bed for one nyght in stede of the pycture/ & promysed her a rewarde for her laboure/ which mayd ouer nyght wrappyd ye fayd yog ma in a shete & layd hym in his maystres bed as she was wot to lay ye pycture.

This wydow was wont euery nyght before she slept & dyuers tymes whe she wakyd to kys the sayd pycture of old John wherfore ye sayd nyght she kystyd ye sayd yong ma beleuyng that she had kyst ye pycture & he sodely start & toke her in his armys and so well plesed her then that olde was callyd John] Hazl. was John.

John from thes forth was clene out of her mynde & was cotent yt this yonge John sholde lye wt her styll all yt nyght & yo pycture of olde John sholde lye styl vnder ye bed for a thyng of nought. After this in ye mornynge this wydow intendyng to plese this yog John which had made her so good pastyme all the nyght bad her mayd go dresse some good mete for theyr brekefast to fest therwith her yog John/ this mayd wha she had loge fought for wood to dres ye fayd mete told her mastres yt she coud fynd no wood yt was dry except onely ye picture of old John yt lyeth vnder ye bed/ the quod ye wyf agayn/ fath1 hym down & lay hym on yo fyre for I se well he wyll neuer do me good nor he wyll neuer do better feruyce though I kepe hym neuer fo longe. So the mayd by her comaundemet dressid ye brekfast/ & so olde John was cast out for nought & brent & from thens forth yong John occupyed his place.

¶ By this tale ye may se it is no wysdome for a mã to kepe longe or to chyryshe that thyng y' is able to do no pleasure nor seruyce.2

¶ FINIS.

¹ fath] i. e. fetch.

² The moral is wanting in Hazl.

Thus endeth the booke of a .C. mery talys. Empryntyd at London at the fygne of the Merymayd At Powlys gate next to chepe fyde. The yere of our Lorde .M. v. C. .xxvi. The .xxii. day of Noueber.

JOHANNES RASTELL.

¶ Cum preuilegio Regali.

CHISWICK PRESS:—PRINTED BY WHITTINGHAM AND WILKINS, TOOKS COURT, CHANCERY LANE.

THIS BOOK IS DUE ON THE LAST DATE STAMPED BELOW

AN INITIAL FINE OF 25 CENTS

WILL BE ASSESSED FOR FAILURE TO RETURN THIS BOOK ON THE DATE DUE. THE PENALTY WILL INCREASE TO 50 CENTS ON THE FOURTH DAY AND TO $1.00 ON THE SEVENTH DAY OVERDUE.

OVERDUE.
MAR 5 1942E SEP 10 1942	6Feb'56BCX
NOV 9 1946	JAN 2 5 1956 LU
9Mey 50ns	15 Aug'spp
17Jul'54CC JUL 1 7 1954 LU	AUG 11 1958
+ 15Nov*54CC	120ct'63AA
H.T. Price	REC'D LD
DEC 1 5 1954	SLY 25 03-3 PM
JAN 2 0 1955 CO	REC'D LD
	IIII 13 1988 4
AUTO DISCOEC 27 '88 "
LD 21-100m-7,'40(6936s)

YA 01521

U.C. BERKELEY LIBRARIES

756953 9321 H933 1866

THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA LIBRARY

Google

